Molotov Appears Before Commission To Press Reparation Claims Of Russia

PROGRESS IS SLOW AT PEACE PARLEY

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Aug. 26.—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov appeared unexpectedly today at a meeting of the Balkan economic commission to direct Russian arguments for reparations from Romania.

Molotov ran into an argument from Australia on Moscow's demand for 300 million dollars from Romania. Australia proposed that a special sub-committee take up Russia's and all other demands for reparations.

This group would fix allotments for all nations, Australia suggested, while keeping the former enemy nations solvent and economically sound to discharge obligations.

Only Foreign Minister Present
He was the only one of the Big Four foreign ministers to appear at the morning sessions at the peace conference.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin has returned to London for a cabinet meeting. U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes and French Premier Bidault remained in their offices, receiving reports from all five commissions meeting today.

The Italian political territorial commission got down to the fourth paragraph of the preamble on the draft treaty for Italy.

The commission accepted a Dutch amendment crediting the Italian resistance movement, along with the Italian army, with a role in the war against Germany. However, the commission refused to enter recognition for Italy's declaration of war on Japan.

Objects To Proposal
Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinskiy objected to the proposal to give credit for Italy's war declaration because the Italians did not send "a single soldier or craft against Japan."

In the Balkan economic commission, Australia proposed formation of a sub-committee with broad powers to fix reparations after exchange of views.

Ten-Weeks-Old Baby Completes Paris-Chicago Trip
CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Ten-weeks-old Susan June Lehman, youngest passenger ever to cross the Atlantic in an Army Transport Command plane, today was safely installed in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lehman of Chicago.

Susan June made the 38-hour Paris-Chicago flight in the arms of her father, T-4 William Lehman, a veteran of 29 months service in England with the Army Medical Corps.

Lehman's wife, the former Miriam Tomlinson of Manchester, Eng., died after Susan June's birth on June 16.

She had been a member of the British services and became acquainted with Lehman early last year at the 189th General Hospital at Cerecense, England. They were married six months later.

Susan June greeted her grandparents at Chicago airport last night with one glance from her wide-open eyes. Then she fell right back to sleep again, as she had done in London, Paris, New York and Washington, on her way to Chicago.

Anniversary Event Sunday At Plaingrove

Commemorate Fiftieth Anniversary Of Presbyterian Church Building

Three hundred people attended the service in the Plaingrove Presbyterian church Sunday morning, Aug. 25, in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the present church building.

A bronze tablet bearing the inscription "In memory of Michael Jordan, donor of funds to build this church, dedicated 1896," was presented to the congregation by Gaylord Eppinger, president of the board of trustees.

It was accepted, on behalf of the congregation by T. Given Shaw, a member of the session.

James Thompson of Volant, accompanied by Miss Leora McCombs, sang two numbers, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," and "Lord Let Me Live Today."

Dr. Houk Speaks
Dr. Dale W. Houk, president of Slippery Rock State Teachers college, delivered the anniversary address on the subject of "Deterioration."

He stated that, despite all our culture and advanced civilization, there is a physical, educational, and religious deterioration taking place. Modern mankind is confronted with a variety of choices, and unless it chooses wisely, there is grave danger of deterioration.

America needs Christian business men, Christian politicians and statesmen, and Christian church members. He challenged church members to live up to their duty.

Release Of Three Soldiers Being Held In Belgrade Asked

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The anxious parents of Staff Sgt. Kenneth E. Schussel of the U. S. army air forces today awaited action on their request that their son and two other American soldiers be returned from Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

In a letter to U. S. Senator William Knowland (R., Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Schussel declared that their son and the other GIs have been held in the U. S. embassy in Belgrade since last February because of the refusal of the Yugoslav government to give them clearance.

Senator Thomas Urges Tests Await Set Up Of Atomic Energy Commission

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Sen. Elbert Thomas (D) Utah, urged today that plans for the third atomic bomb test be deferred until the nation's atomic energy commission is set up.

The military affairs committee chairman declared that the test should be subject to approval of the civilian commission established by the atomic energy act.

At the same time, Thomas advocated a future policy of having the military branches continue tests "indefinitely," but with emphasis switched from weapons to power, which would have civilian applications.

He said: "It would be more fun to watch the navy run a battleship by atomic power rather than blow it to pieces."

Thomas said he would prefer that the navy use the estimated thirty million dollars the deepwater bomb test will cost to concentrate on the problem of driving submarines and battleships by atomic power.

He called for what he termed a "broad interpretation" of the atomic act provision authorizing the president to allocate fissionable materials to the military "for national defense."

He said: "If this is interpreted narrowly, it means that the army and navy can develop only processes to shoot faster, harder or farther."

"My concept is broader. America's resources and economy were strong."

Official Washington Mourns Death Of Aged Jurist; Burial In Kentucky

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Official Washington today mourned the death of retired Supreme Court Justice James Clark McReynolds, who died Saturday night after a prolonged illness.

The 71-year-old jurist, one of the high courts' bitterest opponents of New Deal legislation, passed away at the army's Walter Reed hospital in Washington at 9:25 p. m. (EST) Saturday. His death was attributed to complications developing from a gastro-intestinal ailment.

McReynolds' passing was not disclosed until 13 hours later when it was announced by a Supreme Court aide who said the hospital and not notified him until Sunday morning.

The Supreme Court marshal will leave Washington with the body tomorrow night for Elkhart, Ky., where the justice was born on February 3, 1862. Interment will be in an Elkhart cemetery Thursday.

McReynolds served as an associate justice of the high court for 27 years after his appointment by President Woodrow Wilson in 1914. He retired in 1941. One of his last public appearances was at the funeral of Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone last April 25.

Although he was a Democrat, McReynolds fought much of the legislation supported by the Roosevelt administration. He was in the forefront of Supreme Court dissenters on the constitutionality of many New Deal measures.

Democrats Will Gather Tonight

State Candidates To Speak At County Committee Dinner At The Cas-tleton

SEN. JOS. F. GUFFEY

All four of the state wide candidates of the Democratic party will be present tonight at the county committee dinner in The Castleton Hotel, County Chairman John B. Shaw said this afternoon.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, candidate for re-election, Col. John S. Rice, candidate for governor, John H. Dent, candidate for lieutenant-governor and Al Schmidt, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs will be present and speak.

The dinner is for the members of the county committee and 225 places have been reserved.

Following the dinner, the meeting will be open to any one caring to attend.

Local candidates will be present and will be introduced.

Hitler Had Plans For 'Germ Warfare' Ex-General Claims

NUERNBERG, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Walter Schreiber, a former major general in the German medical corps, testified today that Hitler ordered his army in 1943 to prepare for germ warfare.

Schreiber was produced as a witness at the war crimes trial of 22 top Nazis by the Soviet prosecution staff. He said Hitler's orders went to Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, and Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering.

Although experiments on plague and typhus were conducted at Posen, and human experiments with typhus at the Buchenwald concentration camp, Schreiber said German warfare was underway because allied armies closed in to interrupt preparations.

Chou reportedly intended to assert to Gen. George Marshall, special American envoy to China, that transfer of new supplies to Chiang would bring on a more serious phase of the civil conflict.

U. S. Airmen Will Be Buried At Belgrade

Fliers Shot Down Over Yugoslavia To Be Laid To Rest In U. S. Military Cemetery

By LOVETT EDWARDS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

BELGRADE, Aug. 26.—Yugoslav fighter planes today circled Ljubljana airport to form an airborne cortege on the final flight of the U. S. airmen killed when their transport plane was shot down Aug. 19.

The fighters—similar to those which forced two unarmed American planes to crash within a ten-day period—will escort Ambassador Richard C. Patterson's private plane to Belgrade, where the dead fliers are to be buried in a U. S. military cemetery.

Corpses Mutilated
Exact number of bodies on the funeral flight was not known conclusively, because of the mutilated condition of the corpses found in a common grave at Koprivnik.

The wrecked plane carried a crew of five and the body of Capt. H. F. Schreiber of New Albany, Ind., is the only victim identified definitely. At least two other bodies seemed to be in the grave.

Search for the two missing airmen—or their bodies—was intensified today when Patterson requested Marshal Tito to give every possible aid to American parties now combating mountainous near Bled. Patterson said he believes Yugoslav officials are now cooperating wholeheartedly, particularly in making arrangements for the funerals.

Escorted By Guards
Bodies of the U. S. airmen were escorted from Bled to Ljubljana by a Yugoslav guard of honor through rugged, inhospitable mountain country where ancient covered wagons form the main means of transportation.

Despite Yugoslav military cooperation in the transfer of the bodies, the official Tanyug News Agency hurled new charges today that both American and British planes continue to violate Marshal Tito's sovereign territory.

Tanyug said specifically that between Aug. 10 and 20, some 110 American planes had violated Yugoslav territory.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Chinese Nationalist and Communist forces in Manchuria battled today for control of the Changchun-Mukden railway.

Reports said the Communists had surrounded a government garrison at Tiehling, about 45 miles north-east of the factory city of Mukden.

Some sources suggested that a major conflict appeared to be in the making in Manchuria. In the event of a drawn-out civil war, control of Manchuria may prove to be the vital factor.

In Nanking, Communist Gen. Chou En-Lai planned to protest the sale of more American surplus goods to Chiang-Kai-Shek's Central government.

Sister Of Late Kaiser Identifies Jewelry

FRANKFURT, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The courtroom in which WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durand is being tried on charges of stealing the Hesse family jewels was "treated" today to a glimpse of the glory that was the House of Hohenzollern.

Prosecution and defense counsel stopped arguments for a moment to gaze at the appearance of Princess Margareta von Hesse, Queen Victoria's granddaughter and a sister of the late Kaiser Wilhelm.

The princess, who took the stand against the WAC captain, wore a long black coat, large pearl earrings and a sparkling necklace.

She identified her personal jewelry in the mass of gems introduced as evidence with deft maneuvers of a heavy silver tongs.

The princess, a self-confessed Nazi, was attacked by counsel for the defense, who said:

"We object to any testimony by a member of the Nazi party or a German national against a U. S. citizen and we object to the use of royal titles as prejudicial to the rights of the accused."

The court pointed out that it had already ruled that membership in the Nazi party did not justify questioning of an individual's trustworthiness as a witness.

File Claim For Diamonds Stolen By Jap Troops

TOKYO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—A claim was filed today by the Netherlands East Indies for 100 million dollars worth of diamonds, said to have been stolen from the islands by Japanese occupation troops during the war.

The claim was filed with General MacArthur's headquarters and constituted the first attempt by an Allied government to regain loot seized by the Japanese.

It was charged that Japanese authorities transported by airplane from the East Indies diamonds weighing 83,000 carats.

MacArthur's headquarters asked for positive proof of ownership of the diamonds, which may be among stocks of precious stones impounded by the Allies in vaults of the Bank of Japan.

U. S. Officials Waive 'Attacks' By Marshal Tito

Measure Decisions On Yugoslav Incident By Deeds, Not Words

ISSUE MAY YET COME BEFORE U. N.

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Deep tension over the U. S.-Yugoslav crises eased over the weekend but American officials today declined to call the incident ended.

Despite the passionate attacks of Marshal Tito on both America and Britain, officials were determined to measure their decisions by deeds alone.

Primarily these deeds will be the acts taken by Tito to "right the wrong done." Thus far he has accorded full military honors to the men killed when shot down by his fighter planes. He has ordered that such stern measures not be taken again in the case of planes violating Yugoslav sovereignty.

Only Question Remaining

"The sole remaining question believed under consideration is one of compensation. The United States is expected to be firm on this point. Thus far the United States has not ruled out an appeal to the United Nations Security Council if it deems this step necessary to clear up the Yugoslav incident. But, as viewed at present, the mere matter of reparations could hardly be regarded as a "threat to the peace" calling for United Nations intervention.

The chief question likely to induce the United States to appeal to the world body would come were Tito to attempt to stage a coup in connection with the internationalization of Trieste, now before the Paris peace conference. [This has been the main concern of the western powers and one which is not removed by settlement of the case of the downed and dead fliers.]

In fact, one of the grave concerns over the action of Tito's fighter planes in the suspicion that Yugoslavia feared observation just because forces were being deployed for just such a move.

Further concern was also injected into diplomatic thinking over the weekend by the action of the Soviet Socialist republics of the Ukraine in bringing to the Security Council the case of Greece.

Ukraine of itself has not shown great concern over the Greek situation. But Soviet Foreign Minister V. Molotov has volubly and violently accused Britain of supporting reactionary elements in the government there. He has raised the issue repeatedly and at length at every meeting of the "Big Four" foreign ministers drafting the present peace treaties.

Such action on the part of the Ukraine is believed likely to encourage the western powers to bring some counter case before the United Nations. The tendency now is to carry any such case to the assembly when it meets late in September, rather than appeal to the council.

The belief was held that an appeal to the assembly would do more to muster world opinion, since all members of the UN would have a chance to vote. If appeal were taken to the Security Council, Russia would have the power to veto any appeal to the assembly.

Rev. A. B. Weisz Of Waynesburg, O., Accepts Call Of Rich Hill Presbyterian Church

Rev. A. B. Weisz, pastor of the Waynesburg, Ohio, Presbyterian church has officially accepted the invitation of the congregation and board of the Rich Hill Presbyterian church, to become its pastor and will begin his duties Sunday morning, October 6.

Rev. Weisz, who has had a successful ministry at the Waynesburg church and another subordinate charge, with his wife, will move into the manse of the church during the first week of October.

The congregation of the church met on Sunday morning, to officially recognize the acceptance of the call of Rev. Weisz. The vote of the members was unanimous.

Since the resignation of Rev. H. K. Miller, last September, the church has been without a pastor. Rev. Miller has retired to the Penny Pines in Florida.

On Wednesday, the women of the church will meet in the manse to ready it for redecoration, which will be done before the arrival of the new minister.

Retired Justice Jas C. McReynolds Dead At Capital

Official Washington Mourns Death Of Aged Justice; Burial In Kentucky

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Official Washington today mourned the death of retired Supreme Court Justice James Clark McReynolds, who died Saturday night after a prolonged illness.

The 84-year-old jurist, one of the high court's bitterest opponents of New Deal legislation, passed away at the army's Walter Reed hospital in Washington at 9:25 p. m. (EST) Saturday. His death was attributed to complications developing from a gastro-intestinal ailment.

McReynolds' passing was not disclosed until 13 hours later when it was announced by a Supreme Court attaché who said the hospital had not notified him until Sunday morning.

The Supreme Court marshal will leave Washington with the body tomorrow night for Elkton, Ky., where the justice was born on February 3, 1862. Interment will be in a Elkton cemetery Thursday.

McReynolds served as an associate justice of the high court for 27 years after his appointment by President Woodrow Wilson in 1914. He retired in 1941. One of his last public appearances was at the funeral of Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone last April 25.

Although he was a Democrat, McReynolds fought much of the legislation supported by the Roosevelt administration. He was in the forefront of Supreme Court dissenters on the constitutionality of many New Deal measures.

Prosecution and defense counsel stopped arguments for a moment to gaze at the appearance of Princess Margareta von Hesse, Queen Victoria's granddaughter and a sister of the late Kaiser Wilhelm.

The princess, who took the stand against the WAC captain, wore a long black coat, large pearl earrings and a sparkling necklace.

She identified her personal jewelry in the mass of gems introduced as evidence with deft maneuvers of a heavy silver forgerette.

The princess, a self-confessed Nazi, was attacked by counsel for the defense, who said:

"We object to any testimony by a member of the Nazi party or a German national against a U. S. citizen and we object to the use of royal titles as prejudicial to the rights of the accused."

The court pointed out that it had already ruled that membership in the Nazi party did not justify questioning of an individual's trustworthiness as a witness.

File Claim For Diamonds Stolen By Jap Troops

TOKYO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—A claim was filed today by the Netherlands East Indies for 100 million dollars worth of diamonds, said to have been stolen from the islands by Japanese occupation troops during the war.

The claim was filed with General MacArthur's headquarters and constituted the first attempt by an Allied government to regain loot seized by the Japanese.

It was charged that Japanese authorities transported by airplane from the East Indies diamonds weighing 85,000 carats.

MacArthur's headquarters asked for positive proof of ownership of the diamonds, which may be among stocks of precious stones impounded by the Allies in vaults of the Bank of Japan.

U. S. Officials Waive 'Attacks' By Marshal Tito

Measure Decisions On Yugoslav Incident By Deeds, Not Words

ISSUE MAY YET COME BEFORE U. N.

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Deep tension over the U. S.-Yugoslav crisis eased over the weekend but American officials today declined to call the incident ended.

Despite the passionate attacks of Marshal Tito on both America and Britain, officials were determined to measure their decisions by deeds alone.

Primarily these deeds will be the acts taken by Tito to "right the wrong done." Thus far he has accorded full military honors to the men killed when shot down by his fighter planes. He has ordered that such stern measures not be taken again in the case of planes violating Yugoslav sovereignty.

Only Question Remaining

The sole remaining question believed under consideration is one of compensation. The United States is expected to be firm on this point.

Thus far the United States has not ruled out an appeal to the United Nations Security Council if it deems this step necessary to clear up the Yugoslav incident. But, as viewed at present, the mere matter of reparations could hardly be regarded as a "threat to the peace" calling for United Nations intervention.

The chief question likely to induce the United States to appeal to the world body would come were Tito to attempt to stage a coup in connection with the internationalization of Trieste, now before the Paris peace conference. This has been the main concern of the western powers and one which is not removed by settlement of the case of the downed and dead fliers.

Identify Body Of Capt. Kelly

BODY IS LOCATED IN MANILA GRAVE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The nation's first great war hero—Capt. Colin P. Kelly, Jr.—was officially declared dead today, almost five years after he was initially reported a casualty.

The U. S. Army Quartermaster Depot in Philadelphia announced that Capt. Kelly's body "has now been positively identified."

Col. Turner B. Sharp, commandant of the depot, said he had been informed by Maj. T. B. Larkin, charged with the administration of the American Graves Registration Service, that definite identification of the famed aviator's body has been made.

General Larkin notified Colonel Sharp that information supplied by Kelly's widow, now Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow of Chester Heights, near (Continued on Page Two)

Rich Hill Church Calls New Pastor

Rev. A. B. Weisz Of Waynesburg, O., Accepts Call Of Rich Hill Presbyterian Church

Rev. A. B. Weisz, pastor of the Waynesburg, Ohio, Presbyterian church has officially accepted the invitation of the congregation and board of the Rich Hill Presbyterian church, to become its pastor and will begin his duties Sunday morning, October 6.

Rev. Weisz, who has had a successful ministry at the Waynesburg church and another subordinate charge, with his wife, will move into the manse of the church during the first week of October.

The congregation of the church met on Sunday morning, to officially recognize the acceptance of the call of Rev. Weisz. The vote of the members was unanimous.

Since the resignation of Rev. H. K. Miller, last September, the church has been without a pastor. Rev. Miller has retired to the Penny Farms, in Florida.

On Wednesday, the women of the church will meet in the manse to ready it for redecoration, which will be done before the arrival of the new minister.

Price Controls Removed From Twelve Items

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—OPA removed from price controls today 12 items, including black and white pepper, considered unimportant to the cost of living.

The list includes:

Canned clam broth; canned sauerkraut, with pork (when containing less than 20 per cent of pork by weight); domestic sweet and sour catfish (a relish); imported and domestic ground and unground cinnamon; paprika, oregano; imported and domestic ground black and white pepper; imported and domestic processed meat and fish sauces (except when containing more than 30 per cent of tomato solids in the total dry solids); Chinese Fortune tea cakes; imported and domestic canned plum pudding; malted milk tablets; and dehydrated sugarcane fiber.

OPA said this action complies with the provision of the price control extension act of 1946 which requires OPA—in the case of non-agricultural commodities—to remove price ceilings by next December 31, from commodities unimportant to the cost of living.

The price agency said the items being decontrolled by this action do not exceed one-tenth of one per cent of consumer expenditure for food.

URGES DELAY IN THIRD TEST OF ATOMIC BOMBS

tary strength. Anything the military can do to strengthen industry, as by atomic power, is in the interest of national defense.

"Develop industrial production, and the purely war developments will take care of themselves."

Like To See Test Held

Thomas said he "would like to see the decision held 'if it is approved by the atomic commission.'"

"But if the test is merely to find out how much the bomb will blow up as a purely military weapon we won't learn much about how to control nuclear energy for power."

Meanwhile speculation continued about the makeup of the commission that will make top policy decisions about atomic matters, while no indications about appointments came from the White House.

Being mentioned as possibilities for the chairmanship are former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettin, Jr., President James B. Conant of Harvard University and David Lilienthal, Tennessee Valley Authority chairman who headed the State Department's special atomic energy committee.

Chester Barnard, Bell Telephone Company official who helped draft the senate department's blueprint for world atomic control is regarded by scientists as a probable appointee to the commission.

MANY CLASHES SEEN IN NEW YORK SESSION OF SECURITY COUNCIL

Dmitri Manuilsky reportedly was coming to New York to assist Russian Security Council delegate Andrei Gromyko in presenting the Soviet side of the case.

Former U. S. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, in a radio broadcast, proposed that the United States take the Palestine issue before the Security Council, warning that otherwise warfare would break out between the Jews and the Arabs in a fashion comparable to the black and white rebellion in Ireland.

Censures Army

Not to be outdone by the United States, Russia has accused the American army of occupation with illegally holding 167 vessels and barges in the upper Danube to the detriment of export and import trade affecting Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Turkey—and possibly also the United States—wants to know why a Turkish army captain who was wounded when Yugoslav fighter planes forced a U. S. transport down is still being detained.

Russian outlets claimed that Rep. Sol Bloom, (D-N. Y.) chairman of the house foreign committee, was advocating a policy "openly hostile to the Soviet Union."

"It is a road of a policy of dictation and complete domination of the United Nations and its conversion into a tool of American policy," claimed the newspaper Pravda. "Bloom's declarations are a typical demonstration of 'atom psychosis' and complete ignorance of the present-day international situation."

Both the United States and Great Britain were charged informally with persistent violations of Yugoslav territorial rights through continuing dispatch of transport, fighter and bomber planes over Yugoslav country without permission.

The Security Council meets at its new home at Lake Success, L. I., on Wednesday. The Ukrainian-Greek dispute, Albania's bid for UN membership, and possibly a U. S. complaint over Yugoslavia will be on the agenda.

It was certain that even the first two issues would bring about a trial of all other problems, they being so closely inter-related.

Price Controls Removed From Twelve Items

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—OPA removed from price controls today 12 items, including black and white pepper, considered unimportant to the cost of living.

The list includes:

Canned clam broth; canned sauerkraut, with pork (when containing less than 20 per cent of pork by weight); domestic sweet and sour chutney (a relish); imported and domestic ground and unground cinnamon; paprika, oleoresin; imported and domestic ground and unground black and white pepper; imported and domestic processed meat and fish sauces (except when containing more than 30 per cent of tomato solids in the total dry solids); Chinese Fortune tea cakes; imported and domestic canned plum pudding; malted milk tablets; and dehydrated sugar cane fiber.

OPA said this action complies with the provision of the price control extension act of 1946 which requires OPA—in the case of non-agricultural commodities—to remove price ceilings by next December 31, from commodities unimportant to the cost of living.

The price agency said the items being decontrolled by this action do not exceed one-tenth of one per cent of consumer expenditure for food.

tary strength. Anything the military can do to strengthen industry, as by atomic power, is in the interest of national defense.

"Develop industrial production, and the purely war developments will take care of themselves."

Like To See Test Held

Thomas said he "would like to see" the deepwater test held "if it is approved by the atomic commission." He added:

"But if the test is merely to find out how much the bomb will blow up as a purely military weapon we won't learn much about how to control nuclear energy for power."

Meanwhile speculation continued about the makeup of the commission that will make top policy decisions about atomic matters, while no indications about appointments came from the White House.

Being mentioned as possibilities for the chairmanship are former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., President James B. Conant of Harvard University and David Lilienthal, Tennessee Valley Authority chairman who headed the State Department's special atomic energy committee.

Chester Barnard, Bell Telephone Company official who helped draft the senate department's blueprint for world atomic control is regarded by scientists as a probable appointee to the commission.

Dmitri Manuilsky reportedly was coming to New York to assist Russian Security Council delegate Andrei Gromyko in presenting the Soviet side of the case.

Former U. S. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, in a radio broadcast, proposed that the United States take the Palestine issue before the Security Council, warning that otherwise warfare would break out between the Jews and the Arabs in a fashion comparable to the "black and tan" rebellion in Ireland.

Censures Army

Not to be outdone by the United States, Russia has accused the American army of occupation with illegally holding 167 vessels and barges in the upper Danube to the detriment of export and import trade affecting Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Turkey—and possibly also the United States—wants to know why a Turkish army captain who was wounded when Yugoslav fighter planes forced a U. S. transport down is still being detained.

Russian outlets claimed that Rep. Sol Bloom, (D-N. Y.) chairman of the house foreign committee, was advocating a policy "openly hostile to the Soviet Union."

"It is a road of a policy of dictation and complete domination of the United Nations and its conversion into a tool of American policy," claimed the newspaper Pravda.

"Bloom's declarations are a typical demonstration of 'atom psychosis' and complete ignorance of the present-day international situation."

Both the United States and Great Britain were charged informally with persistent violations of Yugoslav territorial rights through continuing dispatch of transport, fighter and bomber planes over Yugoslav country without permission.

The Security Council meets at its new home at Lake Success, L. I., on Wednesday. The Ukrainian-Greek dispute, Albania's bid for UN membership, and possibly a U. S. complaint over Yugoslavia will be on the agenda.

It was certain that even the first two issues would bring about an airing of all other problems, they being so closely inter-related.

Buried in Manila

Kelly is now buried in military cemetery No. 2 in Manila and his remains may be brought to the United States if his kin so desire.

He and his crew were credited originally with sinking the Japanese battleship Haruma, but later official records showed that the vessel continued in future actions, although it had been badly damaged by three direct hits.

Captain Kelly's Flying Fortress crashed December 10, 1941, at Mount Arayat, five miles east of Clark Field on Luzon, while returning from the bombing mission.

For his heroism, Kelly was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross posthumously. His young son, "Corky," now six, holds a letter signed by the late President Roosevelt addressed to the nation's president in 1956 asking that the boy be appointed to West Point as a token of the country's appreciation for Captain Kelly's bravery.

ATTLE RETURNS

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee returned to London from his country home today to hear a report from foreign secretary Ernest Bevin, on the Paris peace conference.

Attlee returned to Chequers after an hour-long conversation.

RELEASE OF THREE SOLDIERS BEING HELD IN BELGRADE ASKED

cans were wanted by Yugoslav authorities for investigation in connection with the killing of a Russian soldier but that United States authorities—satisfied that the soldiers were not involved—have refused to hand them over.

Senator Knowland released first news of the plight of the Americans from his home in Piedmont across San Francisco bay and declared he has asked for "full information" from Secretary of War Robert Patterson.

Knowland said he wired Patterson and asked what steps are being taken by the U. S. war and state departments to repatriate the Americans.

Identity Companions

Schussel's companions were identified only as Master Sgt. Nelson and Staff Sgt. Scott.

The elder Schussel, a San Francisco city electrician, said that most of his son's friends who entered the service with him are back home and that he and his wife are anxious for their boy's return.

Senator Knowland said that Schussel enclosed with his letter what the father said was a copy of a message from Maj. Joseph E. Gurley, commander of a U. S. air force unit at Belgrade.

The message from Major Gurley said in part:

"Your son Staff Sgt. Kenneth E. Schussel is temporarily detained within the U. S. embassy in Belgrade with two other members of my command. These soldiers are enjoying the protection of the embassy grounds until diplomatic negotiations have secured exit visas."

"This circumstance arose when the Yugoslav government requested that these soldiers be turned over to them for investigation in connection with the alleged shooting of a Russian soldier several months ago."

"United States army investigation has conclusively shown these men were in no way involved in the charge. Therefore, for the best interests of these soldiers, the United States government is not acceding to Yugoslav demands and is doing its utmost with the Yugoslav government for their return to the United States."

The Belgrade Press, meanwhile, called American protests on the plane crashes a "campaign of lies, slanders and falsehoods against Yugoslavia."

Editorials said the U. S. ultimatum could be linked with attempts to discredit Yugoslavia—and through her the Soviet Union—at the Paris peace conference.

Australia proposed that the same sub-committee function after adjournment of the peace conference to supervise collection and distribution of reparations. The Australian representative said he agreed to the principle of reparations, but thought they should not stem from attempts to cripple the former enemy nations.

The fifth week of the conference opened with crises in many parts of the world dimming hopes for important progress of the tasks still confronting the conferees.

Five Meetings Set

Five commission meetings are on the agenda at Luxembourg palace, with that of the Italian political and territorial commission receiving most interest.

Delegates who arrived early at the palace predicted little would be accomplished during commission sessions. They said also the conference may be headed for a deep split on the question of postponing plenary meetings indefinitely.

J. B. Pisor, Oldest Present

J. Bowman Pisor was the oldest person present in the service yesterday. Mr. Pisor, 90 years old, is an elder and has been a very active church worker in the past 50 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Holman, of Gardena, Cal., caused the longest distance to be present. Mrs. Margaret Book Elliott, of Plaingrove, was the first person on the grounds. There were 44 present yesterday that were present 50 years ago when the church was dedicated, June 3, 1896.

The 150th anniversary of the founding of the Plaingrove Presbyterian church will be held in 1949. The church was founded in 1799 and is thought by the oldest church organization in northwestern Pennsylvania.

Evan Lewis of Youngstown, formerly of this city, visited over the weekend with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morris of 511 West Grant street.

What To Do
For That Sluggish,
Down-and-Out
Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what it was, but felt strong as an ox? As you advance the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again "release vibrant energy" to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive power when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off the sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm, flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

glo-American planes flew over Yugoslavia without permission or clearance.

Ninety-one of the planes were said to be military aircraft, either fighters or bombers. The others were listed as transports or "unidentifiable."

(The London Daily Express reported from Istanbul that Turkey has demanded that immediate release of a Turkish captain, now hospitalized in Yugoslavia, who was wounded when the first U. S. plane was shot down Aug. 9.)

The Belgrade Press, meanwhile, called American protests on the plane crashes a "campaign of lies, slanders and falsehoods against Yugoslavia."

Editorials said the U. S. ultimatum could be linked with attempts to discredit Yugoslavia—and through her the Soviet Union—at the Paris peace conference.

amining the capacity of each of the defeated Balkan nations. The Balkan commission will also deal with Finland.

Australia proposed that the same sub-committee function after adjournment of the peace conference to supervise collection and distribution of reparations. The Australian representative said he agreed to the principle of reparations, but thought they should not stem from attempts to cripple the former enemy nations.

The fifth week of the conference opened with crises in many parts of the world dimming hopes for important progress of the tasks still confronting the conferees.

Five Meetings Set

Five commission meetings are on the agenda at Luxembourg palace, with that of the Italian political and territorial commission receiving most interest.

Delegates who arrived early at the palace predicted little would be accomplished during commission sessions. They said also the conference may be headed for a deep split on the question of postponing plenary meetings indefinitely.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was said to be insistent that the

GIBSON-MEANS CHURCH WEDDING

One of the loveliest events of the season was solemnized before an altar embellished with palms and ferns when Miss Gladys Margaret Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson, 216 East Sheridan avenue, became the bride of Glenn W. Means, son of David Means, New Castle street, New Wilmington, at a candlelight ceremony in the First U. P. church Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Rev. J. Calvin Rose officiated at the double ring service. To the strains of the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin, the bride, entering on the arm of her father, was lovely in a white satin gown made en train. Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of white gladiolus.

As her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Doris Gibson, wore a blue net over tulle gown with matching Juliet cap and carried pink gladiolus.

Misses Sara Theophilus and Marjorie Maxwell, bridesmaids, wore identical pink gowns of net over tulle with matching Juliet caps and carried yellow gladiolus.

John Francis served the groom as best man with Donald Gibson and Ernest Prew as ushers. Miss Helen Francis was at the organ for the processional and recessional and accompanied Miss Helen Vancouver who sang "My Hero" and "Because".

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the dining room of the church where 100 guests were served a delicious lunch. Miss Emma Maxwell, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Evelyn Carson, sister of the groom, were aides.

The young couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and on their return will reside in Franklin.

Mrs. Means is a graduate of the local high school and the Jameson Memorial School of Nursing. She served 18 months with the Army Nurse Corps as a first lieutenant.

Mr. Means is a graduate of the New Wilmington high school and served three years with the Navy Air Corps. He is employed at a lumber company in Franklin.

ANNUAL MCCONNELL REUNION ENJOYED

Descendants of the late Essie and Jennie McConnell enjoyed a reunion on Friday, August 23, at Gaston park, with supper being served at 7 o'clock, to the 105 in attendance.

After the bountiful meal, a meeting was held with Chester McConnell acting as chairman, and Gertrude List as secretary.

During the meeting, the following were elected to serve as a committee for the 1947 reunion: Findley Saukey, chairman, and Alma Lutz and Helen Thompson, assistants. Mr. and Mrs. Herman List were elected as game committee, with Mrs. List to serve as secretary and treasurer.

The group extended invitations to Mr. and Mrs. John Stimpie and daughter, Dorothy, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brunswick and daughter, Shirley, who are leaving the latter part of October to make their homes in California. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richards, a bride and groom of August 16, were also congratulated.

Homer McConnell was the oldest person in attendance, he being 87 years old. Nancy Shingledacker was the youngest present, while Daisy Smalley was the youngest mother.

At dark, the group removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. List on Moore avenue, where they enjoyed dancing, with refreshments being served at a late hour.

The next reunion will be at Gaston park on the second Saturday of July, 1947.

Friendship Street Reunion Former and present residents of Friendship street gathered Sunday for their first reunion since the war. The group, numbering 50, went by chartered bus to Staughlin's Beach.

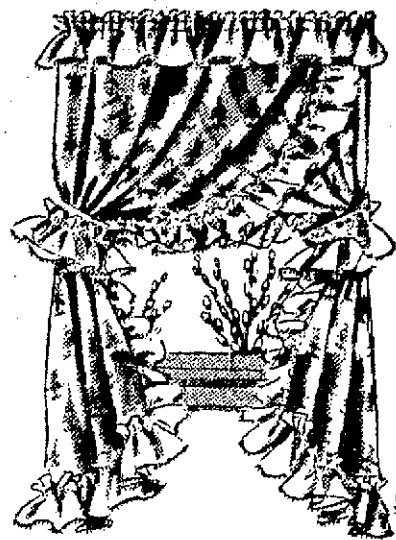

A muskball game was the main feature of the afternoon, with Captain Vito Bullano's team being victorious. Bowling, skating and dancing were added diversions of the day.

A three-legged race was won by Thomas Morella and Philip Richards, while Miss Clara Lamorella, widow winner of the girls race. Sice ball honors went to George Lamorella.

Credit for the successful affair is due to the efforts of Miss Louisa Corio and George Lamorella, co-chairmen. Mrs. Edith and Mary Billano, Mrs. Victoria Beck, Miss Edith Mastern and Miss Louise Corio composed the refreshment committee.

A similar event is being planned for next year.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pale pink street-length dress with white accessories and a corsage of white gladioli and white roses.

Miss Dorothy Critchlow as her sister's maid of honor wore a blue crepe street-length dress with blue and white accessories and a corsage of roses, bachelor buttons and stephanotis.

Hubert Riley was his cousin's best man.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Mildred Shoof, a cousin of the bride, played a prelude of wedding music including "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me," and "Because."

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the house for a few relatives and close friends.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with a large wedding cake. Aides were Mrs. Charles Duncan, Mr. Robert Campbell, Mrs. Edwin Corban, Mrs. William Critchlow and Mrs. Ann Elliott.

The couple left on a week's wedding trip to Crystal Beach, Canada. On their return they will take up residence at 131 Hillcrest avenue.

Mrs. Riley is a graduate of Union High school and is employed at a department clerk at the Shenango Pottery. Mr. Riley, who attended New Castle High school, is employed at the Irwin Works in McKeesport. He spent 52 months in service with the U. S. Army including 33 in the ETO.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Harold Moore and Mrs. Richard Jones, of Dravosburg, Mrs. Ida Stevenson, of Struthers, O., Mrs. John O'Brien, of Sharon and Mrs. James Rickert, of Masury, O.

RAINBOW ACTIVITIES START NEXT WEEK

Fall activities of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls will get under way next week, opening with a card party for the girls and their friends Wednesday evening, Sept. 4, at 7:45 o'clock in the Cathedral following the regular meeting of the assembly, which will start at seven o'clock with a brief business session presided over by Miss Harriette Brinton, worthy advisor.

Mrs. Orville Potter is chairman for the advisory board, with all members of that body and the assembly assisting. Mrs. J. W. McCreary and Mrs. William C. Wheldon, in charge of the card room; Mrs. Howard Erwin, Miss Bessie Durant, Mrs. John Templeton and Mrs. Clifford Probst, in charge of refreshments; Miss Martha Bigley, Mrs. Bessie Pitzer, Charles E. Allen and Clifford Probst, in charge of other games. Tickets are in charge of Miss Mabel Campbell, Mrs. Frank L. Doerr, Mrs. H. W. French, Harriette Brinton, Marie Olson, Peggy Lamore, Connie Branstetter and Marilyn Shaw. Prizes: Mrs. L. A. Wygant, Mrs. Evelyn McKibben and Orville Potter; room, Mrs. George D. Reid.

Another early date on the Rainbow calendar is the public installation of officers, which will take place Wednesday, Sept. 18, followed by a reception for Miss Marston Wheldon, grand worthy advisor, and the other local members who were elected to grand offices. Miss Marie Olson, grand soloist, and Miss Harriette Brinton, grand confidential observer. George N. Clark of Cleveland, O., supreme deputy, will be a special guest of the evening.

The annual harvest moon dance is planned for Saturday, Sept. 28, at Cascade Park.

ANNUAL MCCONNELL REUNION ENJOYED

Descendants of the late Essie and Jennie McConnell enjoyed a reunion on Friday, August 23, at Gaston park, with supper being served at 7 o'clock, to the 105 in attendance.

After the bountiful meal, a meeting was held with Chester McConnell acting as chairman, and Gertrude List as secretary.

During the meeting, the following were elected to serve as a committee for the 1947 reunion: Findley Sankey, chairman, and Alma Lutz and Helen Thompson, assistants. Mr. and Mrs. Herman List were elected as game committee, with Mrs. List to serve as secretary and treasurer.

The group extended felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. John Stimpie and daughter, Dortha, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brunswick and daughter, Shirley, who are leaving the latter part of October to make their homes in California. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richards, a bride and groom of August 16, were also congratulated.

Homer McConnell was the oldest person in attendance, he being 87 years old. Nancy Shingledacker was the youngest present, while Daisy Smalley was the youngest mother.

At dark, the group removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. List on Moore avenue, where they enjoyed dancing, with refreshments being served at a late hour.

The next reunion will be at Gaston park on the second Saturday of July, 1947.

Friendship Street Reunion

Former and present residents of Friendship street gathered Sunday for their first reunion since the war. The group, numbering 30, went by chartered bus to Stoughton's Beach. A baseball game was the main feature of the afternoon, with Captain Vito Bullano's team being victorious. Rowing, skating and dancing were added diversions of the day.

A three-legged race was won by Thomas Morella and Philip Richards, while Miss Clara Lamorella was winner of the girls race. Skee ball honors went to George Lamorella.

Credit for the successful affair is due to the efforts of Miss Louise Corio and George Lamorella, chairmen. Mrs. Edith and Mary Bullano, Mrs. Victoria Beck, Miss Edgie Mastern and Miss Louise Corio composed the refreshment committee.

A similar event is being planned for next year.

HELLO, MOTHER:

At last something decidedly different. A real opportunity to preserve your child's voice recorded on a record. It may be his or her first words, a solo or poem from the older children.

Just keep them along with your album of pictures, your bronze baby shoes or memories.

Government Spending And Your Dollar

Of all the issues which will face the next Congress, none will be more important than that of a balanced budget. Continued deficit spending, with the war over and the country undergoing a boom period, is the greatest threat to the value of the dollar, the savings of the people, and the future stability of the nation.

In depression times, the advocates of free spending enthusiastically backed the John Maynard Keynes theory, which, to put it simply, is that government must go in the red and prime the pump when conditions are bad. Now the same group seems to have forgotten the logical development of that theory—which is that in good times government must retrench, spend less than it receives, and build up some economic fat for lean years to come.

A sound fiscal policy now must have three progressive phases. First, the budget must be balanced. Second, there must be an orderly program for reducing and eventually liquidating the public debt. Third, when sufficient progress has been made along the first two phases, taxes on industry and individuals must be gradually reduced.

This is a long-term program. Its results will only be apparent over decades. But it must be the backbone of any fiscal policy which will spare us from government-induced inflation, the destruction of insurance values, the collapse of the currency, and the kind of general economic collapse we are witnessing in Central Europe, China and elsewhere.

Deadline Met

Demobilization, about which a hot controversy raged not many months ago, is no longer an issue now. Nearly all of the men who bore the brunt of the fighting for the United States in World War II have been returned to this country and mustered out. But it is worth noting, as a matter of record, that the Navy has kept faith with the three and a half million service men who made up its forces in the Pacific area.

The deadline originally set by the Navy for sending the last of these men to separation centers for discharge was August 23, 1946. When that date arrived the Navy checked its records and found that the pledge it made had been kept. It reported that the men had been brought back to meet the date and that "personnel now on duty in the Pacific are regulars or reserves who volunteered for longer duty."

For the Navy demobilization has never presented as formidable a problem as it did to the Army. The Navy had fewer men to handle. It was under no obligation to supply occupation forces which have been the Army's toughest problem. But it deserves credit for what it has accomplished. The Navy has kept faith with its men.

Tradition Builder

The man who made Michigan football teams feared across the land for more than a quarter of a century will not be on hand this fall when the varsity candidates report for practice. His bulging shoulders and wide smile will not be seen again in the vast field house that bears his name. The timer's horn has blown for Fielding H. Yost.

It was 45 years ago this fall that Yost began to build the tradition of victory that still thrives lustily on the Ann Arbor campus. They do not forget, under the elms along State street, the "point-a-minute" teams that followed his advent. From 1901 through 1905, Michigan teams scored 2,821 points to their opponents' 42. They won 55 games, lost one, tied one.

Chicago ended that age of miracles by a 2-to-0 upset in the last game of 1905. But in 27 years teams coached by Yost won 165 games, lost 29, tied 10, scoring 6,305 points to 894 for their opponents. Eight teams were undefeated. Nine lost a single game. And meanwhile the crowds that came to hear "The Victors" played in triumph financed the great athletic plant Yost was to direct when his active coaching days were over.

He had his lean years. There were times when his critics were ready to say his day was past—and had to eat their words when he produced more great teams. He stayed until he became a fixture and a legend. His spirit will live on as long as they play football on the banks of the Huron.

Steel Supports American Industry

For a great many years, the basic barometer of industrial production has been steel output. The reason for that is simple. Steel is essential to the operation of almost every industry, farm and home.

Steel makes our motorcars. Steel goes into our kitchens in great quantities. Steel products package the food we eat. Steel builds our trains and planes and ships and buses. Steel is indispensable on the farm. Even the most primitive form of transportation, walking, involves steel—in the form of the nails in our shoes!

Some time back there was talk to the effect that steel's dominant place in our industrial life might lessen, due to the development of new, competitive materials. It is true that great progress has been made with other metals and with plastics. They have found an important place in our industrial picture. But we still need steel more than ever for countless new uses.

During the steel strike, America's industrial machine moved inexorably to a virtual stop. The effects of the strike are still being felt, in the form of shortages of steel products. For this is the vast industry, basic in every sense of the word, on which all other industry depends.

Tax Refunds For Millions

Completion of income tax refunds to 30,250,000 persons on their 1945 returns warrants commendation of the Internal Revenue Bureau and congratulations to the recipients.

The bureau has speeded up this process and taxpayers have been relieved from previous long waits for their money. It took a year for the government to hand back only $530,000,000 due in 1944. This latest job has required less than four months to refund a total of $1,400,000,000.

This accomplishment would have been impossible without the fine work of local collectors of internal revenue who have had to handle the millions of returns and compute the sums owing to individuals.

Taxpayers who have been grumbling about the government's delays in paying its debts will now have to change their tune. The withholding tax is chiefly responsible for the enormous number of refunds. Employees are required to use a far from exact table for withholdings, and so many persons pay more than their actual liability. Employees who change their occupations also complicate the situation.

Those who overpay their income taxes are entitled to interest on the excess, which also necessitates elaborate official calculations. There was a time when demagogues tried to make political capital out of huge tax refunds. But they will naturally be silent now that so many millions of individuals are cashing in on their overpayments.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Commercial Treaty With Russia Is Needed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Out in Fort Knox, Kentucky, is some 20 billion dollars in gold. It is all scientifically marked, tagged, boxed, stacked and whatever else you do to preserve a dull yellow metal stored away in a hole in the ground.

Part of that hoard of gold came from Siberia, from out of the ice-bound earth in the wasteland of an empty country. When the going was toughest for the Bolsheviks in the 20's, they learned that there was always one way they could obtain badly needed goods from capitalist countries. That was to hold out a bar of gold.

They imported American engineers to push the discovery of new ore and to develop to the utmost the scientific mining of gold. That went right on through the war. It was said in Moscow, half in earnest, half in jest, that there were two sure ways to escape military duty: one was to be a ballet dancer, and the other was to be connected with gold mining as an essential technician.

Want to Continue
When the lend-lease pipeline stops flowing, the Russians would like to go on paying us in gold for our goods. They would like to exchange more of the dull yellow metal for the products of our fields and factories—the resources of our earth and our brains. That is the cheapest possible way they can get the goods they want from us.

For the United States to continue to trade goods for gold would be like the present. At the present moment the Russians are exhibiting the kind of lunacy which is exhibited only by a species about to become extinct. Such a base for trade between the two countries would be enormously advantageous to Russia but it could not conceivably mean any profit to this country.

If we mine our coal, our copper and our iron to make peacetime machines for Russia, we reduce our reserves by just that much more. That is the essence of it. The grain of two world wars has cut so deeply into our resources that we can no longer afford to ship them abroad in return for small quantities of gold.

Must Face Facts
We must face the facts of 1946. I have seen figures showing convincingly that, in four major resources—iron, copper, coal and oil—we spent our reserves during the war at a rate six times greater than Russia did. We are perilously close to being a have-not nation.

Russia has resources we need. Manganese is one. Any future commercial treaty between the two countries should provide for the exchange of raw materials from the USSR for machines from the USA. If we follow any other course, we shall be writing our own prescription for decline and fall.

A commercial treaty is necessary. Shortly before Congress adjourned, Rep. Jerry Voorhis of California put into the Congressional Record a document prepared by Charles E. Prince, formerly Russian expert for the United States Chamber of Commerce. That statement outlines the benefits which would flow from such a treaty—and the treaty would in no way violate the pattern of the United Nations. The document makes clear that such a treaty is essential not only for the USSR but also for Russia's satellite countries in eastern Europe, since Russia controls the economy of those countries.

Sent Much As Gifts
In the first three months of this year, when we were sending to Russia goods valued at $114,076,000, most of it on credit or as a gift from the United States. Russia goods valued at $30,734,000. Of this total, $24,400,000 was in fur; $3,400,000 was in manganese and chrome, and the balance was in drugs such as licorice root and other minor products.

We are a rich country. We can probably afford to go on importing Russia's raw materials. But for a minimum of $200 a year, besides the sugar and chrome, a more sensible commercial treaty would adjust all these matters so trade would mean a genuine profit to both nations. Without such a treaty Russia will be able to fish to her own advantage in the great pool of American free enterprise.

The Soviets need many things from this country. They have placed orders for machines to complete the great Dnieprostroi canal project. Orders now on the books make it seem certain that the volume of exports to this country to the USSR will mount rapidly in the coming months. Under a reasonable treaty, this might help to stop the clearance that so menaces the world.

GERMS AND EXPOSURE

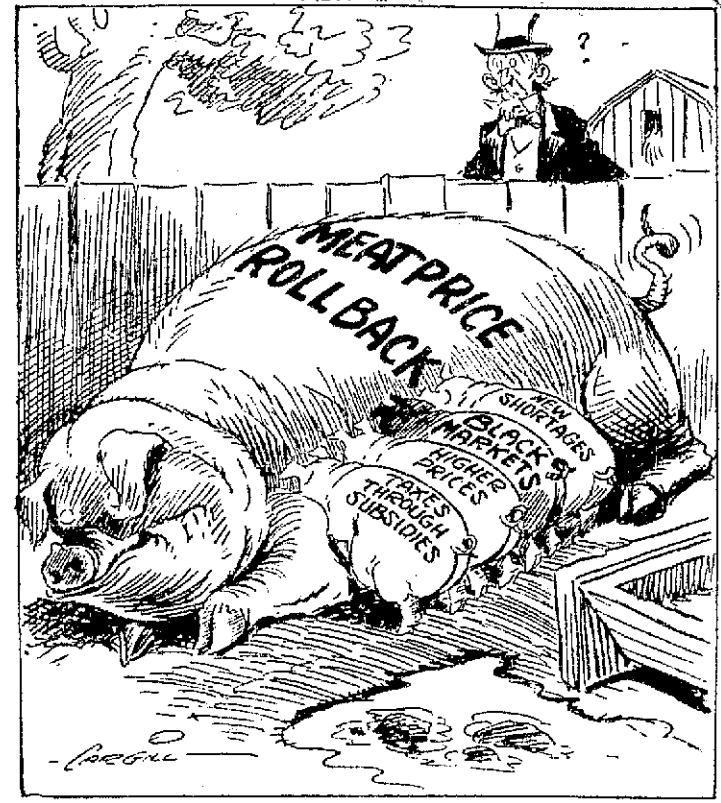

The common cold seems to be our most bothersome disease. Doctors call it bronchitis and rhinitis and laryngitis and sinusitis and pharyngitis and a lot of other big names. Some people call it by names which are not fit to print.

Perhaps cold weather does not have much to do about it. Perhaps cold air or cold rain or wet feet do not have much to do about it. Nevertheless people call it a cold and that's that.

Colds are rarer in summer because people are not so crowded. Children are outside more. They are not in school.

It would be better if Charlie were excused from school when he is "taking cold." The other children and the teacher would not be exposed.

Finally we are making some progress toward the better world... 168 new designs of wall paper will be out this week.

Things are quieting down a little. LaGuardia hasn't crossed anybody in two days and a 60 day cooling-off period has been ordered for Marshall Tito.

Tito's defense was that he had been reading the news from the United States and thought anybody could defy the government.

The diplomatic retreat of Tito came while Mr. Truman was at sea. He not only was as pleased as everyone else he was just as much surprised.

Many wonder why Mr. Truman decided to stop off in Bernuda. It seems it's the one place he can walk around the streets and not be reminded of troubles in the automobile industry.

The UAW now is out for its second round of wage increases. No matter how high prices go the UAW intends to stay in the race.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A little old Negro lady who died a few days ago in Cleveland treated herself to a fine funeral.

"It will cost not less than $2,000 or more than $4,500," she stipulated in her will.

Her estate cost $2,000. A commercial photographer took pictures of the service, and prints were sent to all her relatives and friends. $200 was provided for the minister who conducted the service. The gravestone was $1,000, $300 was set aside for a caretaker for her grave, $200 a year for flowers for her and her mother's plots, and $3 a week to each of two churches in honor of her memory.

Undoubtedly the woman meant well. I don't criticize her for her expenditures. It was her money, earned by her effort, and it isn't my business to judge her taste.

But when I leave this earth I don't want any of that kind of fustian. I don't want an elaborate funeral. I want nobody but my wife and a few friends to say the last goodbye to me.

I don't want any minister, who knew very little about me, to glorify me for $5 or $200, and shed crocodile tears over my demise. I don't want any flowers in my memory.

I planted a few trees and some roses and hollyhocks in my garden. Let the next fellow who lives in my home enjoy them.

I didn't make the flowers and the trees, and I don't want any credit for them.

I don't want a beautiful tombstone with my name on it.

I want my epitaph to be the

From Me To You

By MESEAL

One week more... then it will be Labor Day... and then... SCHOOL. Yes, sir, times does quickly slip by... way it seems only last week that we welcomed the boys and girls to a summer vacation. This school year carries a lot of meaning in our little household.

The little queen is starting this year... so she is no longer a queen... just a private in the real world. We look forward with a wee bit of awe to the transition... no doubt some of you folks are in the same predicament.

Postmaster Hanna... he's one of our old dear friends... well anyhow he called Saturday and informed this office that the blanks for the Veterans (fourth back pay) were now available... Any one interested may obtain a blank at the Stamp window. Instructions for filling out and sending in are attached to the blanks... and if you need more information and help we suggest that you make a trip to the Court House Annex and see the Veterans' Advisor... happy hunting grounds.

Saturday morning we spent 30 minutes at the corner of Washington and Mill streets... Just looking... we would have stayed longer but too many good citizens stepped and asked if we were ill, holding the building up or looking for a handout. Anyhow... we watched the traffic, both vehicle and pedestrian. Very interesting... very, very interesting... in the 30 minutes on the corner an even dozen motorists made turns... mostly made from east bound traffic on Washington Street... but one chap did make a turn as he came north on Mill Street... On the whole we would say that most pedestrians were on their toes Saturday and obeyed the traffic signals. There were a few lawbreakers yet... and folks still insist on throwing paper on the streets.

If we were Mayor... a great deal of consideration would be given the idea of abolishing parking on Mill street from the Alley north of Washington to the bridge south of Washington street. Only a dozen or so cars can be accommodated in the space... and in dollars and cents it wouldn't amount to a lot but in moving traffic faster it would amount to untold amounts.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THOSE FIESTAS

We in the United States have the Mardi Gras in New Orleans as a regular festival where the people celebrate and do foolish things all in the spirit of revelry, but in Mexico they have Fiestas.

Originally, the Fiesta affair began with weddings when the whole countryside gathered at the homes of the contracting parties for a week's round of pleasure, winning, dining, dancing and music. It was so much fun that they extended it to include births and deaths, and finally to celebrating the birthdays of all members of the family both living and dead. This, of course, materially reduced the number of work days which also proved exceedingly popular among the natives. They would rather do almost anything than work. It was particularly a Latin affair suggested by their Spanish forebears, just as the Mardi Gras was suggested by their French ancestry.

It was natural that the Fiesta should extend its influence to California for California was settled by the Spanish people.

The first symptom of an approaching Fiesta is whiskers and if you are able to sprout a crop that will disguise your identity you can do anything you want with impunity, for your wife will probably never hear about it. And that is one of the main purposes of a Fiesta.

Any other reason for whiskers at Fiestas is not clear because Mexicans don't raise whiskers, the reason being that whiskers are singled at the roots by a pepper. Nobody ever saw a Mexican with whiskers. They seldom live long enough and if they do they dry out and shrivel up. But they live while they're at it, believe me!

TEEN-AGE MARRIAGE

I am a boy of nineteen, recently released from the Army and planning to go back to school. I am attentive to a girl with very refined parents who evidently approve of me. She seems to love me very much but I have spells during which I really think that we could be happy together in the future, yet at times I feel the other way. Please advise me in what way I should proceed.

Answer: Your mention of your periods of devotion as more "spells" is proof that you are still in the puppy love state. Indeed, no boy in his teens should tie himself to any girl or waste her time by asking her to wait for him until he has finished school.

There were many such marriages during the hysterical days of war and almost as many regrets. Only the most exceptional teen-age marriages turn out happily and those usually when the boy and girl are developed far beyond their years and have a steady income.

When your father was your age, we were still living in a period of chivalry during which every young man was in honor bound to ask his ladylove's father for her hand and in which every father solicitous of his daughter's future checked up on her prospective husband to learn whether he was in a position to support her as she should be supported. Girls who eloped with "dinks" under "the law" like you were usually saved by having their marriages annulled. Few, if any of the girls whom you admire at nineteen, will appeal to you when you are twenty-nine or even twenty-five.

Wait, son, until you have educated yourself for a lucrative position and have gained it before asking any girl to marry you. Don't Weaken The AAF Administration economy measures and other causes are declared to be putting the Army Air Forces in a critical position.

The AAF will have to make drastic cuts in personnel and organization generally. The effect on fighting strength, vital research work, especially at Wright Field, and otherwise, may be serious.

This situation ought to be examined carefully by President Truman himself. In all general respects economy requirements, even if sweeping in their effect on large-scale construction projects and other matters which could wait for a while, are laudable.

But this is not the time for the United States to permit any serious curtailment of air strength, one of the most important defenses of the nation.

The AAF plans, drafted originally by General Spaatz, and approved by General Arnold when he took command, called for 70 air groups; a strong Air National Guard and Air Reserve program, the use of long-range development and research, particularly in very heavy bombers centering at Wright Field, and in guided missiles.

All of these programs are likely to suffer. The AAF will be forced to drop 32,000 civilian employees—about 20 per cent of that element in its organization. This step, especially, is feared, will hamper research and development activities. All government agencies, as a matter of course, objects to cuts in personnel and appropriations. Nevertheless, economy is very much in order and should be pursued. In the case of the Army Air Force, however, critical world conditions certainly call for the closest examination of economy plans. We cannot afford to let the AAF weakened now.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Parent Problem

GUIDING YOUR CHILD AT PLAY

Do you know where your child is within any 15-minute period of the day?

During the long summer months children of elementary school age, and younger ones, are tempted more to experiment in undesirable ways than in winter.

Moreover, during the long, warm days, tots and runabouts who are not well supervised tend to wander far away from their homes, especially in outlying areas.

Therefore, the moral protection of children during summer requires considerable vigilance of parents, for more than most parents exercise. It requires some establishment of boundaries and control of these children that they shall not go beyond. How can there be reasonable moral safety without home discipline?

It is amazing how indifferent and downright careless many parents are concerning the whereabouts of their children, and this indifference and carelessness is not limited to the underprivileged by any means. When some sex experimenting is discovered, a few parents will grow angry. They should not. Some such indignity can be expected, yet proper vigilance should keep it to a minimum.

No matter how well you have tried to bring up your child, he is likely to mingle with one or more other children who have not been so well protected.

You can't afford to keep your child away from other children of the immediate neighborhood, even when you know that some of these other children have undesirable habits and ideals. So long as your child plays within reasonable boundaries, is easily in the view of adults, even "undesirable" playmates are better than no playmates.

You can't build too much moral fiber in a child without his being with other children. Attract those other children to your lawn, yard or porch. Do your best to provide them with play equipment and wholesome amusement.

The State Police Say

The motor vehicle laws require that a vehicle traversing a mountain highway should be kept under control and as near to the right-hand side of the highway as possible. In descending steep grades vehicles should be operated in second or low gear. No motor vehicle is to be operated down any grade with the clutch disengaged or the gears in neutral. This is commonly known as coasting, and is a violation of the law.

BABY'S ARRIVAL

When first a little child arrives To bless the home and all within it.
Changes are made in many lives In that divinely holy minute.
The wife will bear up mother be, With all the cares that mothers bother.
The man who paced the hall: Ah, he Will evermore be known as father.

But something more than human lives Is touched with grace and set to glowing;
The house to which that babe arrives Is richer made by God's bestowing.
There'll be a time beyond the door For little bonnets, slips and dresses;
And playthings strewn about the floor, And ribbons gay for curly tresses.

As time goes by, the walls will wear The smudgy prints of sticky fingers;
At table soon a white high chair, How long the memory of it lingers!
Close at her side at meals they sat—Tugged at her sleeves, with jelly smeared them;
But, oh, she never minded that. So happy, she, that we possessed them.

The rugs, no doubt, will thin a bit Beneath the feet of children racing;
But she will answer: "What of it? Such wear, no dwelling is disgracing."
She'll tell the captious, churlish mind That sees things broken ere Jeffere paid for.

For children was the home designed. To keep them happy it was made for.

Commercial Treaty With Russia Is Need

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Out in Fort Knox, Kentucky, is some 20 billion dollars in gold. It is all scientifically marked, tagged, boxed, stacked and whatever else you do to preserve a dull yellow metal stored away in a hole in the ground.

Part of that hoard of gold came from Siberia, from out of the ice-bound earth in the wasteland of an empty country. When the going was toughest for the Bolsheviks in the 20's, they learned that there was always one way they could obtain badly needed goods from capitalist countries. That was to hold out a bar of gold.

They imported American engineers to push the discovery of new ores and to develop to the utmost the scientific mining of gold. That went right on through the war. It was said in Moscow, half in earnest, half in jest, that there were two sure ways to escape military duty: one was to be a ballet dancer, and the other was to be connected with gold mining as an essential technician.

Want to Continue
When the lend-lease pipeline stops flowing, the Russians would like to go on paying us in gold for our goods. They would like to exchange more of the dull yellow metal for the products of our fields and factories—the resources of our earth and our brains. That is the cheapest possible way they can get the goods they want from us.

For the United States to continue to trade goods for gold would be the sheerest folly. At the present moment in our history it would be the kind of lunacy which is exhibited only by a species about to become extinct. Such a base for trade between the two countries would be enormously advantageous to Russia but it could not conceivably mean any profit to this country.

If we mine our coal, our copper and our iron to make peacetime machines for Russia, we reduce our reserves by just that much more. That is the essence of it. The drain of two world wars has cut so deeply into our resources that we can no longer afford to ship them abroad in return for small quantities of gold.

Must Face Facts
We must face the facts of 1946. I have seen figures showing convincingly that, in four major resources—iron, copper, coal and oil—we spent our reserves during the war at a rate six times greater than Russia did. We are perilously close to being a have-not nation.

Russia has resources we need. Manganese is one. Any future commercial treaty between the two countries should provide for the exchange of raw materials from the USSR for machines from the USA. If we follow any other course, we shall be writing our own prescription for decline and fall.

A commercial treaty is necessary. Shortly before Congress adjourned, Rep. Jerry Voorhis of California put into the Congressional Record a document prepared by Charles E. Prince, formerly Russian expert for the United States Chamber of Commerce. That statement outlines the benefits which would flow from such a treaty—and the treaty would in no way violate the pattern of the United Nations. The document makes clear that such a treaty is essential not only for the USSR but also for Russia's satellite countries in eastern Europe, since Russia controls the economy of those countries.

Sent Much As Gifts
In the first three months of this year, when we were sending to Russia goods valued at $114,976,000, most of it on credit or as a gift from UNRRA, we received from Russia goods valued at $30,734,600. Of this total, $24,400,000 was in furs; $3,400,000 was in manganese and chrome, and the balance was in drugs such as licorice root and other minor products.

We are rich country. We can probably afford to go on importing Russia's furs, but at retail for a minimum of $200 a skin. But, besides the furs, we need a lot more manganese and chrome.

A sensible commercial treaty would adjust all these matters so trade would mean a genuine profit to both nations. Without such a treaty Russia will be able to fish to her own advantage in the great pool of American free enterprise.

The Soviets need many things from this country. They have placed orders for machines to complete the great Dnieprostroy dam project. Orders now on the books make it seem certain that the volume of exports from this country to the USSR will mount rapidly in the coming months. Under a reasonable treaty, this might help to stop the cleavage that so menaces the world.

GERMS AND EXPOSURE
The common cold seems to be our most bothersome disease. Doctors call it bronchitis and rhinitis and laryngitis and sinusitis and pharyngitis and a lot of other big names. Some people call it by names which are not fit to print.

Perhaps cold weather does not have much to do about it. Perhaps cold air or cold rain or wet feet do not have much to do about it. Nevertheless people call it a cold and that's that.

Colds are rarer in summer because people are not so crowded. Children are outside more. They are not in school.

It would be better if Charlie were excused from school when he is "taking cold." The other children and the teacher would not be exposed.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A little old Negro lady who died a few days ago in Cleveland treated herself to a fine funeral. "It will cost not less than $2,000 or more than $4,500," she stipulated in her will.

Her casket cost $2,000. A commercial photographer took pictures of the service, and prints were sent to all her relatives and friends. $200 was provided for the minister who conducted the service. The gravestone was $1,000, $30 was set aside for a caretaker for her grave; $200 a year for flowers for her and her mother's plots, and $3 a week for each of two churches in honor of her memory.

Undoubtedly the woman meant well. I don't criticize her for her expenditures. . . . was her money, earned by her effort, and it isn't my business to judge her taste.

But when I leave this earth I don't want any of that kind of fustian. I don't want an elaborate funeral. I want nobody but my wife and a few friends to say the last goodbye to me. I don't want any minister, who knew very little about me, to eulogize me for $5 or $200, and shed crocodile tears over my demise. I don't want any flowers in my memory.

I planted a few trees and some roses and hollyhocks in my garden. Let the next fellow who lives in my home enjoy them.

I didn't make the flowers and the trees, and I don't want any credit for them. I don't want a beautiful tombstone with my name on it. I want my epitaph to be the

One week more . . . then it will be Labor Day . . . and then . . . SCHOOL. Yes sir, times does quickly slip by . . . why it seems only last week that we welcomed the boys and girls to a summer vacation. This school year carries a lot of meaning in our little household . . . The little queen is starting this year . . . so she is no longer a queen . . . just a private in the ranks. We look forward with a wee bit of awe to the transition . . . no doubt some of you folks are in the same predicament.

Saturday morning we spent 30 minutes at the corner of Washington and Mill streets . . . just looking . . . we would have stayed longer but too many good citizens stopped and asked if we were ill, holding the building up for looking for a handout. Anyhow . . . we watched the traffic, both vehicle and pedestrian. Very interesting . . . very very interesting . . . in the 30 minutes on the corner an even dozen motorists made turns . . . mostly made from east bound traffic on Washington street . . . but one chap did make a turn as he came north on Mill . . . On the whole we would say that most pedestrians were on their toes Saturday and obeyed the traffic signals . . . The World and the Mud Puddles

We in the United States have the Mardi Gras in New Orleans as a regular festival where the people celebrate and do foolish things all in the spirit of revelry, but in Mexico they have fiestas.

Originally, the Fiesta affair began with weddings when the whole countryside gathered at the homes of the contracting parties for a week's round of pleasure, winning, dining, dancing and music. It was so much fun that they extended it to include births and deaths, and finally to celebrating the birthdays of all members of the family both living and dead. This, of course, materially reduced the number of work days which also proved exceedingly popular among the natives. They would rather do almost anything than work. It was particularly a Latin affair suggested by their Spanish forebears, just as the Mardi Gras was suggested by their French ancestry.

It was natural that the Fiesta should extend its influence to California for California was settled by the Spanish people.

The first symptom of an approaching Fiesta is whiskers and if you are able to sprout a crop that will disguise your identity you can do anything you want with impunity, for your wife will probably never bear about it. And that is one of the main purposes of a Fiesta.

Any other reason for whiskers at Fiestas is not clear because Mexicans don't raise whiskers, the reason being that their whiskers are singed at the roots by the peppers they eat, and never get a start. Nobody ever saw a Mexican with whiskers. They seldom live long enough and if they do they dry out and shrivel up. But they live while they're at it, believe me!

TEEN-AGE MARRIAGE
"I am a boy of nineteen, recently released from the Army and planning to go back to school. I am attentive to a girl with very refined parents, who evidently approve of me. She seems to love me very much but I have spells during which I really think that we could be happy together in the future, yet at times I feel the other way. Please advise me in what way I should proceed."

Answer: Your mention of your periods of devotion as mere "spells" is proof that you are still in the puppy love stage. Indeed, no boy in his teens should tie himself to any girl or waste her time by asking her to wait for him until he has finished school.

There were many such marriages during the hysterical days of war and almost as many regrets. Only the most exceptional teen-age marriages turn out happily and those usually when the boy and girl are developed far beyond their years and have a steady income.

When your father was your age, we were still living in a period of chivalry during which every young man was in honor bound to ask his ladylove's father for her hand and in which every father solicitous of his daughter's future checked up on her prospective husband to learn whether he was in a position to support her as she should be supported. Girls who eloped with "infants under the law" like you were usually saved by having their marriages annulled. Few, if any of the girls whom you admire at nineteen, will appeal to you when you are twenty-nine or even twenty-five.

Wait, son, until you have educated yourself for a lucrative position and have gained it before asking any girl to marry you. And use all of your will power to refrain from trying to tie her up with an engagement or even an "understanding" until your job and your salary are birds in your hand rather than in the bush.

War Dads' Evolve

New Way To Aid G. I.'s Now In College

MACOMB, Ill.—(INS)—Strolling along through the still green grass across the little campus of Western Illinois State Teachers College, you'd never know that a war had come and gone.

That is, you'd never know it if you didn't look down behind the girls' dormitory where they've thrown up barracks-like buildings to house the veterans who at last have come home.

Or you wouldn't know it if you didn't take a second look at the students themselves, now about ready to start a new fall term. Here and there you see one limping along with his books in his arm—his eyes daring anyone to sympathize. Down through the ravine you see a youngster in Dakar boots (strictly air corps) ambling along with his wife and kid.

Scene Duplicated
It's the same sort of scene that is repeated all across the country about now, but there's one part of the picture which is different here...

The veterans who are starting to school under the terms of the G. I. Bill of Rights aren't worrying very much about whether their allowance check will be late this month. Because if it is, they know where they'll get the money—from the Macomb chapter of the "American War Dads."

They can get it in half an hour's time. And since it's practical, veteran's aid project which might be repeated elsewhere in the country's college towns, perhaps it bears outlining...

It was about a year ago now that the first heavy wave of vets began to re-enroll at Western, picking up their education where they left off. It wasn't an easy job, trying to get along on the monthly veterans' allowance, plus whatever dough they could pick up on the side.

And it was especially tough if the government checks were late—which they often were, due to the inevitable crush on the veterans' administration.

Aid Is Extended
Somebody told the Macomb war dads about it. Q. Ray Reedy, past president of the organization and chairman of its waste-paper drive, doesn't remember exactly who did.

But it didn't matter, he said. "The important thing was that we'd been looking for ways to help these kids out—and here was our chance to do something practical."

Previously, the waste paper drive—which normally netted from $300 to $500 each of the ten times the war dads had conducted it—had been used to send spending money to Macomb boys overseas. But now they decided to put it to a better cause.

"We set up an interest-free veterans' emergency loan fund out at the college," Reedy, whose son was with the Marines in the Pacific and whose daughter was a nurse, said. "All the kids had to do to get the loan when their check was late—or some other emergency came up—was to get a letter signed by Colonel M. N. This'd, the dean of men, and President Frank A. Bean, out at school. The letter just told who they were and what they needed."

Need Great
Usually the need was pretty great, as almost any veteran trying to finish his education anywhere can tell you. For one thing, few vets have had time to establish credit in college towns. And most of them have had little experience trying to float loans. But this one is simple. "They just bring the letter into Harold Noel (Macomb banker who is fund treasurer) and he gets the okay of the fund committee and the loan is made," Reedy said. "Other members of the committee are Circuit Clerk H. S. Bobbitt and Elery Leefers, an insurance man."

What Reedy didn't say, wanting things to look official, was that, for all practical purposes, Noel carries the rest of the members' proxies. The letter from the college is considered sufficient information for approval.

With each waste paper drive—a volunteer affair, involving from a dozen to 40 trucks, and anywhere up to 200 men and boys—the fund swells. Ever Reedy doesn't know just how much is in it right now. Reedy said:

"We loan the boys up to $100, or else up to the amount of their allowance check. Then, when they get the check, they pay it back. Up to now, all the loans have been promptly repaid—and we're not worrying."

Neither are the vets...which is why other communities might take notice...

Manufacturers! Farmers! Retailers!

THE SHORTEST DISTANCE BETWEEN TWO POINTS is by Truck!

Modern, Direct Truck Transportation is Often
Faster than the U. S. Mails!

For speed, safety, flexibility—and greater all-round economy—you will find that no other form of transportation can match modern truck transport.

Trucks pick up the load wherever it's made or grown—and speed it direct to the manufacturer, wholesaler or retailer.

Extra crating is unnecessary, because your goods roll on rubber—with no "humping", no "switching", less handling. Goods arrive in better condition—with less breakage, less loss!

Faster, more frequent deliveries mean lower inventory, less storage space, greater turnover on your investment—which all add up to higher profits.

That's why more and more people in every field are finding that it pays to specify "Ship by Truck"—pays in precious time, and in actual cash.

Find out today what modern truck transport can do for you. Write or call your State Trucking Association... affiliated with ATA.

War Dads' Evolve
New Way To Aid
G. I.'s Now In College

MACOMB, Ill.—(INS)—Strolling along through the still green grass across the little campus of Western Illinois State Teachers College, you'd never know that a war had come and gone.

That is, you'd never know if you didn't look down behind the girls' dormitory where they've thrown up barracks-like buildings to house the veterans who at last have come home.

Or you wouldn't know if you didn't take a second look at the students themselves, now about ready to start a new fall term.

Here and there, you see one limping along with his books in his arm—his eyes daring anyone to sympathize. Down through the ravine you see a youngster in Dakar boots (strictly air corps) ambling along with his wife and kid.

Scene Duplicated

It's the same sort of scene that is being duplicated all across the country about now, but there's one part of the picture which is different here.

The veterans who are starting to school under the terms of the G. I. Bill of Rights aren't worrying very much about whether their allowance check will be late this month.

Because if it is, they know where they'll get the money—from the Macomb chapter of the "American War Dads."

They can get it in half an hour's time. And since it's practical, veteran's aid project which might be repeated elsewhere in the country's college towns, perhaps it bears outlining...

It was about a year ago now that the first heavy wave of vets began to re-enroll at Western, picking up their education where they left off. It wasn't an easy job, trying to get along on the monthly veterans' allowance, plus whatever dough they could pick up on the side.

And it was especially tough if the government checks were late—which they often were, due to the inevitable crush on the veterans' administration.

Aid Is Extended

Somebody told the Macomb war dads about it. Q. Ray Reedy, past president of the organization and chairman of its waste-paper drive, doesn't remember exactly who did.

"But it didn't matter," he said. "The important thing was that we'd been looking for ways to help these kids out—and here was our chance to do something practical."

Previously, the waste paper drive—which normally netted from $300 to $500 each of the ten times the war dads had conducted it—had been used to send spending money to Macomb boys overseas. But now they decided to put it to a better cause.

"We set up an interest-free veterans' emergency loan fund out at the college," Reedy, whose son was with the Marines in the Pacific and whose daughter was a nurse, said. "All the kids had to do to get the loan when their check was late—or some other emergency came up—was to get a letter signed by Colonel M. N. This is the dean of men, and President Frank A. Bourn out at school. The letter just told who they were and what they needed."

Need Great

Usually the need was pretty great, as almost any veteran trying to finish his education anywhere can tell you. For one thing, few vets

This great medicine is famous to relieve pain, nervous distress and weak, "dragged out" feelings, of "certain days"—when due to female functional monthly disturbances. Worth trying!

have had time to establish credit in college towns. And most of them have had little experience trying to float loans. But this one is simple. "They just bring the letter in," Harold Noel (Macomb banker who is fund treasurer) and he gets the okay of the fund committee and the loan is made," Reedy said. "Other members of the committee are Circuit Clerk H. S. Bobbitt and Elery Leefers, an insurance man."

What Reedy didn't say, wanting things to look official, was that for all practical purposes, Noel carries the rest of the members' proxies. The letter from the college is considered sufficient information for approval.

With each waste paper drive—a volunteer affair, involving from a dozen to 40 trucks, and anywhere up to 200 men and boys—the fund swells. Even Reedy doesn't know just how much is in it right now, Reedy said.

"We loan the boys up to $100, or else up to the amount of their allotment check. Then, when they get the check, they pay it back. Up to now, all the loans have been promptly repaid—and we're not worrying."

Neither are the vets...which is why other communities might take notice...

INTERVIEW HEIRENS

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Dr.

Foster Kennedy, of the New York Neurological Institute and professor of neurology at Cornell university, starts a series of interviews today with William Heirens, college boy killer.

Dr. Kennedy's findings, added to those of other alienists who have examined Heirens during the past three weeks, will be submitted to Chief Justice Harold Ward of the criminal court before September 4.

On this date, the University of Chicago student is scheduled to be arraigned on charges of murdering Suzanne Degnan, six; ex-Wave Frances Brown, and Mrs. Josephine Ross, a widow.

British Troops Hunting Mines Used In Attack

By REGINALD SEIGEL
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

JERUSALEM, Aug. 26.—Four thousand British troops, swarmed into the Palestine village of South-Yon today in a search for the source of Limpet mines used last week in the successful extremist attack on the transport Empire Rival.

The troops, units of the Second British Infantry brigade, surrounded the tiny settlement and began an inch-by-inch investigation.

Jewish circles in Jerusalem became alarmed when told a major military operation was in progress between Haifa and Tel Aviv.

Report Of Movement

Word of the new troop movements reached the Holy City as Zionist leaders assailed the decision of the Palestine Arab higher committee to ignore London's invitation for an Arab-Jewish conference unless the mufti of Jerusalem is permitted to head the Arabian delegation.

Responsible British quarters, meanwhile, declared it "very unlikely" that the mufti, Haj Amin El Hussein, would be acceptable to Britain.

They pointed out that the mufti, now in exile in Alexandria, has been accused widely of working with the Nazis during the war.

The underground radio transmitter "Voice of Fighting Zion" failed to mention the mufti today, but cracked down on several Jewish leaders from the U. S. by calling them "blind, defeatists and non-combatant."

Chief Target

Chief target among the Americans was Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, who insisted in a letter to British foreign secretary Bevin on the Jewish agency's right to choose its representatives for the London conference.

The underground transmitter attacked Weizmann for even considering the British plan to federalize the Holy Land.

Weizmann informed Bevin also that Jewish participation in the London talks will be withheld unless discussion includes plans for a Jewish state in Palestine.

Weizmann insisted that invitations to the talks be issued to "representatives of other important bodies and organizations—apparently meaning non-Zionist Jewish groups."

Possible Mercy Killing Suspected In New York Crimes

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Widespread search for the father of a crippled, mute two-year, nine-month old boy found dead in his Brooklyn home ended today when police identified a body taken from New York harbor as that of Joseph Merritt.

The boy, Kenneth, was found lying face down in the tiled bathtub of his Brooklyn home and police immediately began a search for the father. Several hours later, the father's body was found floating in New York harbor off Bush terminal.

Police said they suspected a possible mercy killing.

The boy's mother, Mrs. May Merritt, found Kenneth dead, clad in his pajamas, and her husband missing when she returned home from a visit last night.

Mrs. Merritt found the door barred from the inside but entered through a window. Another child, William, 17 months, was asleep in his crib.

Mrs. Merritt told police she left the children in the care of her husband when she left home.

FRUIT CROPS

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—Supplies of apples, pears, peaches and grapes are expected to be much better this year in New York state than last. The New York apple crop is estimated at 11.9 million bushels, the State College of Agriculture reports.

British Troops Hunting Mines Used In Attack

By REGINALD SEIGEL

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

JERUSALEM, Aug. 26. — Four thousand British troops, swarmed into the Palestine village of South-Yam today in a search for the source of Limpet mines used last week in the successful extremist attack on the transport Empire Rival.

The troops, units of the Second British Infantry brigade, surrounded the tiny settlement and began an inch-by-inch investigation.

Jewish circles in Jerusalem became alarmed when told a major military operation was in progress between Haifa and Tel Aviv.

Report Of Movement

Word of the new troop movements reached the Holy City as Zionist leaders assailed the decision of the Palestine Arab higher committee to ignore London's invitation for an Arab-Jewish conference unless the mufti of Jerusalem is permitted to head the Arabian delegation.

Responsible British quarters, meanwhile, declared it "very unlikely" that the mufti, Haj Amin El Huseini, would be acceptable to Britain.

They pointed out that the mufti, now in exile in Alexandria, has been accused widely of working with the Nazis during the war.

The underground radio transmitter "Voice of Fighting Zion" failed to mention the mufti today, but cracked down on several Jewish leaders from the U. S. by calling them "blind, defeatists and non-combatant."

Chief Target

Chief target among the Americans was Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, who insisted in a letter to British foreign secretary Bevin on the Jewish agency's right to choose its representatives for the London conversation.

The underground transmitter attacked Weizmann for even considering the British plan to federalize the Holy Land.

Weizmann informed Bevin also that Jewish participation in the London talks will be withheld unless discussion includes plans for a Jewish state in Palestine.

Weizmann insisted that invitations to the talks be issued to "representatives of other important bodies and organizations — apparently meaning non-Zionist Jewish groups."

Possible Mercy
Killing Suspected In
New York Crimes

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — (INS) — Widespread search for the father of a crippled, mute two-year, nine-month old boy found dead in his Brooklyn home ended today when police identified a body taken from New York harbor as that of Joseph Merritt.

The boy, Kenneth, was found lying face down in the filled bathtub of his Brooklyn home and police immediately began a search for the father. Several hours later, the father's body was found floating in New York harbor off Bush terminal. Police said they suspected a possible mercy killing.

The boy's mother, Mrs. May Merritt, found Kenneth dead, clad in his pajamas, and her husband missing when she returned home from a visit last night.

Mrs. Merritt found the door barred from the inside but entered through a window. Another child, William, 17 months, was asleep in his crib.

Mrs. Merritt told police she left the children in the care of her husband when she left home.

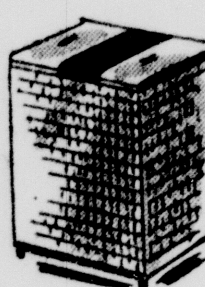

FRUIT CROPS

ITHACA, N. Y. — (INS) — Supplies of apples, pears, peaches and grapes are expected to be much better this year in New York state than last. The New York apple crop is estimated at 119 million bushels, the State College of Agriculture reports.

No Hospitals In Ten Counties Of State Says Report

Hospital Association Discloses Ten Counties Without Hospital Facilities

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—(INS)—A report of the Pennsylvania Hospital Association disclosed today that 10 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties "do not have hospital facilities of any kind."

Compiled by a special committee headed by Dr. Thos. Conway, Jr., of Philadelphia, the report pointed out that "shocking" gaps in the availability of medical and surgical care were discovered in many sections of the state.

In addition to the 10 counties, nine others do not have "out patient clinic services," the report said. The 19 counties have a total population of 578,000 persons and cover an area of 11,635 square miles.

"It is shocking to realize that this great number of people in such a large area of the state of Pennsylvania have no accident or emergency facilities, no medical, surgical, or other hospital clinics, and in large measure no x-ray, laboratory, basal metabolism or other facilities so vitally essential in the diagnosis of disease," the report stated.

"The committee found that even the highly developed medical centers of the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh areas—and similar centers in the East—are not now prepared to take on the full functions of the hospital of tomorrow," the report said.

Hunt Weapon Used In Fatal Warren Attack

WARREN, Pa., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Police today were searching for the weapon which Andrew Mizak, 26, allegedly used in the fatal shooting Friday night of his pal, John Kalinski, 30, in the latter's nearby Baker Hill home.

Mizak, who purportedly admitted to police that he fired the gun that snuffed out the life of his friend, was reported recovering in a hospital from two superficial gun wounds which, police said, were self-inflicted.

Police also were searching for a motive in the crime which was witnessed by the victim's father, Charles, 60, a semi-invalid.

Mizak, who is under constant guard in the hospital, first told authorities that he was shot as he attempted to take the gun from his companion and then later admitted, police said, that he had shot himself and "hoped the wounds would be fatal."

Many Veterans Receive School And Job Benefits

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The Veterans Administration reported today that more than 27,000 veterans in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia were taking advantage of the G. I. education and on-the-job training benefits.

Dr. Ernest E. Brown, regional chief of vocational rehabilitation and education, pointed out, however, that there has been no "marked expansion in on-the-job training which might have led to abuses and racketeering of the type reported in other areas."

He estimated that only a few veterans in this area will be suspended from training by the new act of Congress aimed at curbing abuses in this phase of the education program.

Dr. Brown said there were 25,940 vets in this region receiving ordinary training and education under the G. I. bill and 1,694 disabled vets undergoing rehabilitation training.

County Dependent List Totals 2,281

Department of public assistance in Harrisburg revealed today that a total of 2,281 persons received aid during the week ending August 17.

Broken down these figures show 350 receiving general assistance, 397 getting old-age assistance, 998 dependent children, and 136 blind pensioners.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUZZLES

Francisco is known as the El Camino Real—Highway of the King. The old Priests of the San Francisco Order gave it that name. They built Missions a day's journey apart on this Highway and wherever they have the old Missions they like to play pioneer games. If they have not a Mission they use the Barbary Coast or the Gold Rush, but whatever the excuse, it all starts with whiskeys and ends up like New Year's Eve in Chicago or New York.

It is now decreed by the inhabitants along the El Camino Real that every Fiesta must be celebrated by stage coaches, ox carts, burros and Indians, lots of Indians, with fripples and tortillas stuffed with goat meat. There must be guitars, banjos, zithers and kettledrums, with street dancing and much singing. Bright red, green and yellow costumes with a sea of wide sombreros and flowing sashes and capes and spangled pantaloons for the gents, with skirts, wavy skirts, and full-length, fluffy pantalettes for the señoritas. Blue overalls and whiskeys don't mean anything. They don't excite curiosity about the hidden mysteries of nature.

If you ask me, Why is a Fiesta? I would have to break down and confess that I don't know but even one of Spanish origin says he doesn't know. The most enthusiastic participants who ought to know, if anybody would, seldom stay sober long enough to tell you. They are more likely to kiss you a smack on the cheek and goopoo-eye you—as if you didn't know. There's Leo Carrillo, for instance, California's gaudiest fester. In the Santa Barbara Fiesta the other day, Leo administered the authorized chaste salute to an admiring dignitary, when suddenly the latter's husband who shouldn't have been around, administered another salute to Leo's jaw. Of course, the husband does not understand the true spirit of the great Fiesta, but after a few well chosen copitas, the episode ended with everybody singing, "Is Everybody Happy?"

However, whatever it is, these celebrations with all their fun and frolic, their neighborliness, their good will and hospitality are a most agreeable change from the wars, Governmental Don'ts, and the proscribing of our liberties that we have been undergoing for several years.

Californians have an excuse for these Festivals which the cold-blooded Northerners don't have, for it is an outgrowth of the hot-blooded Southerners—the hot-blooded Latins.

Question Wife In Husband Stabbing

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—A 30-year-old mother of three small children was held by police today for questioning in connection with the stabbing of her husband.

Police said Joseph Chelman, 43, of Pittsburgh, was undergoing treatment in a hospital for stab wounds in the chest which allegedly were inflicted by his wife, Irene.

When arrested Mrs. Chelman told police that her husband "kicked her black and blue, dragged me from my bed and knocked my tooth out."

"I told him to lay off," she continued, "and when he didn't I got the knife and stuck him."

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—A 30-year-old mother of three small children was held by police today for questioning in connection with the stabbing of her husband.

Police said Joseph Clarenhan, 43, of Pittsburgh, was undergoing treatment in a hospital for stab wounds in the chest which allegedly were inflicted by his wife, Irene.

When arrested Mrs. Clarenhan told police that her husband "kicked her black and blue, dragged me from my bed and knocked my tooth out."

TEMPORARY CLASSROOMS
COLUMBUS, O.—(INS)—Erection of 35 temporary classroom buildings at Ohio State university to help provide for an autumn enrollment of 20,000 is now under way. The wooden barracks-type buildings, each 20 by 48 feet in size, have been assigned to Ohio State by the army, in connection with the army ROTC program offered here.

British Troops Hunting Mines Used In Attack

By REGINALD SEIGEL

JERUSALEM, Aug. 26. — Four thousand British troops, swarmed into the Palestine village of Soot-Yom today in a search for the source of Limpet mines used last week in the successful extremist attack on the transport Empire Rival.

The troops, units of the Second British Infantry brigade, surrounded the tiny settlement and began an inch-by-inch investigation. Jewish circles in Jerusalem became alarmed when told a major military operation was in progress between Halfa and Tel Aviv.

Report Of Movement

Word of the new troop movements reached the Holy City as Zionist leaders assailed the cessation of the Palestine Arm higher committee to ignore London's invitation for an Arab-Jewish conference unless the mufti of Jerusalem is permitted to head the Arabian delegation.

Responsible British quarters, meanwhile, declared it "very unlikely" that the mufti, Haj Amin El Husseini, would be acceptable to British.

They pointed out that the mufti, now in exile in Alexandria, has been accused widely of working with the Nazis during the war.

The underground radio transmitter "Voice of Fighting Zion" failed to mention the mufti today, but cracked down on several Jewish leaders from the U. S. by calling them "blind, defeatists and non-combatant."

Chief Target

Chief target among the Americans was Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, who insisted in a letter to British foreign secretary Bevin on the Jewish agency's right to choose its representatives for the London conversation.

The underground transmitter attacked Weizmann for even considering the British plan to federalize the Holy Land.

Weizmann informed Bevin also that Jewish participation in the London talks will be withheld unless discussion includes plans for a Jewish state in Palestine.

Weizmann insisted that invitations to the talks be issued to "representatives of other important bodies and organizations — apparently meaning non-Zionist Jewish groups."

Possible Mercy

New York Crimes

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — (INS) — Widespread search for the father of a crippled, mute two-year, nine-month old boy found dead in his Brooklyn home ended today when police identified a body taken from New York harbor as that of Joseph Merritt.

The boy, Kenneth, was found lying face down in the tiled bathtub of his Brooklyn home and police immediately began a search for the father. Several hours later, the father's body was found floating in New York harbor off Bush terminal.

Police said they suspected a possible mercy killing.

The boy's mother, Mrs. May Merritt, found Kenneth dead, clad in his pajamas, and her husband missing when she returned home from a visit last night.

Mrs. Merritt found the door barred from the inside but entered through a window. Another child, William, 17 months, was asleep in his crib.

Mrs. Merritt told police she left the children in the care of her husband when she left home.

FRUIT CROPS

ITHACA, N. Y. — (INS) — Supplies of apples, pears, peaches and grapes are expected to be much better this year in New York state than last. The New York apple crop is estimated at 11.9 million bushels, the State College of Agriculture reports.

CORNEL WILDE'S LAMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Cornel Wilde wants Hollywood—and the world—to know that his wife, Patricia Knight, can stand on her own feet as an actress without any help from him.

He made it plain today that, if anything, being married to him is a hindrance rather than a help in getting her own screen career launched.

Cornel discussed the situation at some length when your reporter ran into him on the set of "The Home-coming" at 20th Century-Fox.

"It makes me sick and tired to hear or read that I'm doing this or that to help my wife's career," he said.

"She doesn't need any help from me. She is a very fine actress, as her career on the stage proves."

"Make Fine Team"

"If I want to be co-starred with her in a picture, as I've told you, it isn't because I'm trying to help her out. It's because I believe we'd make a fine team. We were together on the stage."

"I not only love my wife but I greatly admire her."

"It just happened that I started my movie career and got well established before she even decided to go on the screen.

"A producer, not knowing she's my wife, may get very interested in having her in his picture. Then he finds out we're married. Maybe he doesn't like me, because I've turned down one of his pictures, or something. He promptly loses interest in her."

"She's lost out in a case like that not because she isn't a highly capable actress, but because of me."

"When she signed with 20th Century-Fox, she didn't come here with any intention that I'd be of help to her. She can stand on her own feet. She could have signed at any of the other studios. She came here only because we like to be together as much as possible."

"Sometimes I think it might be a good idea if she left this studio and signed someplace else."

Ingenious Girl
An ingenious girl is Marie Windsor, the brunette beauty recently signed by M-G-M for the New York stage and radio.

When she invited her family from Marysville, Utah, including her father, mother, brother and sister, to pay her a visit, she little realized what a time she'd have getting accommodations for them. She has only a single apartment herself.

She was on the brink of failure, and the family due at any moment, when she hit on a bright idea. She suggested to friends, a couple living across the hall, that they take their vacation now so she could use their apartment for her family. They obligingly agreed.

Garden Notes

Many herbaceous plants, such as poppies, monkshoods and other bulbous or early blooming kinds are dormant now and should be worked around with great care when digging in the borders.

All fertilization should stop but watering of all sorts of plants should continue as long as they are growing, even until the ground freezes.

Beds of lily-of-the-valley which no longer flower well should be reset this month. Separate and use the strongest clumps.

Place short pieces of board under masts and watermelons so that they will ripen uniformly and not be destroyed by wire worms.

Continue to plant lilies and other hardy bulbs. The regal lily can be used effectively among peonies and other large-growing perennials or among rhododendrons and mountain laurel.

Purchase ferns and other house plants now so that they may become accustomed to house conditions before winter sets in.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Editor of The New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.,

Dear Sir:

I wish to correct Mr. J. A. Bell in the statements he made in his letter published in The News of August 23, 1946. Mr. Bell stated that the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans are the only veterans' organizations recognized by the Veterans Administration.

The Marine Corps League (the local organization is the Gy. Sgt. Harry T. Burns detachment of the Marine Corps League) was formed June 6, 1923, and was incorporated by Act of Congress, August 4, 1937. The membership is made up entirely of honorably discharged Marines and is pledged to render assistance to all Marines and ex-Marines as well as their widows and orphans. The Marine Corps League is recognized by the Veterans Administration under Provision 844, 74th Congress and the Administration has served the league well.

Most of New Castle, I believe, has been aware of the League's activities in behalf of the service men. Since the war's end the League's services have expanded as the membership increased. The next large project of the League is the building of a Memorial to the Marines of Lawrence County who gave their lives for their country. On September 28th the United States Marine Band, under the sponsorship of the League, will appear in the Cathedral for two performances. The entire net proceeds of these concerts will be used for the memorial to the thirty-one Marines of Lawrence County who gave their valor and blood and died in the cause of our country.

CORNEL WILDE'S LAMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Cornel Wilde wants Hollywood—and the world—to know that his wife, Patricia Knight, can stand on her own feet as an actress without any help from him.

He made it plain today that, if anything, being married to him is a hindrance rather than a help in getting her own screen career launched.

Cornel discussed the situation at some length when your reporter ran into him on the set of "The Home-Stretch" at 20th Century-Fox.

"It makes me sick and tired to hear or read that I'm doing this or that to help my wife's career," he said.

"She doesn't need any help from me. She is a very fine actress, as her career on the stage proves."

"Make Fine Team"

"If I want to be co-starred with her in a picture, as I've told you, it isn't because I'm trying to help her out, it's because I believe we'd make a fine team. We were together on the stage."

"I not only love my wife but I greatly admire her."

"It just happened that I started

my movie career and got well established before she even decided to go on the screen."

"A producer, not knowing she's my wife, may get very interested in having her in his picture. Then he finds out we're married. Maybe he doesn't like me, because I've turned down one of his pictures, or something. He promptly loses interest in her."

Loses Out

"She's lost out in a case like that not because she isn't a highly capable actress, but because of me."

"When she signed with 20th Century-Fox, she didn't come here with any intention that I'd be of help to her. She can stand on her own feet. She could have signed at any of the other studios. She came here only because we like to be together as much as possible."

U. S. And Britain Are Targets For Soviet 'Barrage'

MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Russian spokesmen charged today that the U. S. and Britain have teamed up in a game of "power politics" against the pro-Soviet governments of Yugoslavia and Poland.

Moscow repeated Yugoslavia's accusations of violations of her territory by American aircraft and denounced Britain for demanding "open and democratic elections" in Poland.

The British have refused to release 16 million dollars of Polish gold deposited in London by Warsaw's pre-war government until the Poles establish a government regarded as representatives of the electorate.

Power Demonstration

A Moscow radio commentator asserted that the "American-Yugoslav incident is a deliberate, rather ugly, demonstration of the essence of practice of power politics which the Anglo-Saxon countries are becoming more and more inclined to use in their relations with other countries."

The speaker indicated he thought that the presence of an American fleet in the Mediterranean was intended deliberately to influence small European countries.

The Communist newspaper Pravda said the U. S. sought to "handicap Yugoslavia when problems in which she is interested are discussed at the peace conference."

Pravda singled out Rep. Sol Bloom of New York, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, as an alleged leader of those "reactionary American circles" which are seeking "complete domination of the United Nations and its conversion into a tool of American policy."

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Twenty-three Germans—accused members of the Ehrhardt espionage ring—pleaded not guilty of activities harmful to the United States today at arraignment before an American military commission.

After pleas were entered a three weeks continuance of the trial was granted.

Clerk to Model

MARTHA JANE LEE, 21-year-old blonde information clerk at a Dallas, Tex., hotel, has been named the prettiest girl in Dallas by Harry Conover, model agency head. Conover spent three days selecting five Dallas girls to work for him and returned to the hotel to have his wife, Candy Jones, tell him to take a look at the clerk. Result: Miss Lee is bound for New York. (International)

Twenty-One Nations Are Represented In Passengers Of Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The former Troop Transport S. S. Marine Lynx was called the S. S. "Melting Pot" today.

The Lynx, now operated by the American President Lines, docked in San Francisco from Singapore and discharged 964 passengers representing 21 nations, plus eight stateless persons.

Largest of the national groups was the delegation of 312 Indian students bound for 55 American universities under the state department's cultural relations program.

A spokesman for the group, 24-year-old, bespectacled Hardev Singh, explained:

"We want to study the technology of America—where it is at the highest level. And we get a warmer welcome here than we get in England."

Other nationalities aboard included Americans, Chinese, British, Dutch, Italian, Iranian, Iranian, French, Canadian, Polish, Siamese, German, Russian, Swiss, Hungarian, Czech, Burmese, Finnish, Australian and the stateless—German Jewish refugees.

Assert Russia May Withdraw From U.N. Place

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The Paris newspaper Etoile Du Soir said today that diplomatic circles seriously envisage withdrawal of Soviet Russia from the United Nations as a result of the present war of nerves.

The publication said:

"The next security council meeting may well bring a crisis . . . the violence with which Moscow is conducting her diplomatic battle against the Anglo-American gives the impression the Soviet government no longer believes in collaboration with the west."

Bloom To Urge U.N. Take Over Relief Functions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Rep. Sol Bloom (D) N. Y., revealed today that he will urge the United Nations to take over UNRRA's food and relief distribution functions.

Bloom, who is chairman of the UN committee on UNRRA, said his committee probably will recommend this move to the UN general assembly meeting in New York September 23.

Bloom said he would convene the UN committee on UNRRA as soon as he has received a report from Rep. Ryter (D) Conn., his representative at the UNRRA general council meeting in Geneva.

Ryter is expected to return from Europe early this week.

Bloom pointed out that although the UNRRA organization would be out of business by the end of June, 1947, the need for it would continue long past that date.

He observed that the UNRRA machinery for relief distribution is fast losing personnel as employees hasten to find new jobs before the agency expires.

If Bloom said, the general assembly were to decide in September to take over UNRRA relief activities, the organization could be kept on the job as an experienced unit.

Bloom estimated that a United Nations relief set-up would remain in operation a year, or at most two, beyond the UNRRA expiration date, until the needy nations have been able to get their farms working and their factories in order.

Hoax Is Charged Against Husband At Milford, Penna.

MILFORD, Pa., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Abraham Kohn, who staged a hoax involving himself, his four sons and a Chinese boy to effect his wife's return home, was free under $100 bail today pending extradition to Connecticut.

Police said that P. Lawrence Epitafio, Fairfield county, Conn., prosecutor, had issued a warrant charging the 45-year-old bookkeeper with endangering the life of a minor.

The minor in the warrant is Lai K. Lun, Jr., three-year-old son of a Chinese laundryman who had boarded the boy with Kohn.

The group was discovered in a Milford hotel Saturday. A widespread search had been in progress for them since their empty rowboat was found floating in Long Island sound.

Meanwhile, police in Kohn's home town of Stamford, Conn., said there was no indication that Mrs. Kohn had been affected by his act.

SMALL FIRE AT NOON HOUR TODAY

Local business folks, out for lunch today, had a little excitement when fire was discovered in a partition, adjoining a stairway in the rear of the New Castle Drug Company, corner of Washington and Mercer street, at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon, firemen extinguished the blaze with virtually no loss, although smoke from the blaze worked its way into the room above.

EGYPT PROBING AIRLINES CRASH

CAIRO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Egyptian authorities investigated today the crash of a Misra Airlines plane in which five persons, including William Price, 28, a correspondent for Time magazine, were killed.

The crash occurred about 33 miles east of the Almaza airport at Helopolis, on the outskirts of Cairo.

Price's wife, the former Violet Bodman, of Glen Head, L. I., suffered a dislocated thigh in the crash. Another woman passenger and the pilot were injured also.

U. S. And Britain Are Targets For Soviet 'Barrage'

MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Russian spokesmen charged today that the U. S. and Britain have teamed up in a game of "power politics" against the pro-Soviet governments of Yugoslavia and Poland.

Moscow repeated Yugoslavia's accusations of violations of her territory by American aircraft and denounced Britain for demanding "open and Democratic elections" in Poland.

The British have refused to release 16 million dollars of Polish gold deposited in London by Warsaw's pre-war government until the Poles establish a government regarded as representatives of the electorate.

A Moscow radio commentator asserted that the "American-Yugoslav incident as a deliberate, rather ugly, demonstration of the essence of practice of power politics which the Anglo-Saxon countries are becoming more and more inclined to use in their relations with other countries."

The speaker indicated he thought that the presence of an American fleet in the Mediterranean was intended deliberately to influence small European countries.

The Communist newspaper Pravda said the U. S. sought to "handicap Yugoslavia when problems in which she is interested are discussed at the peace conference."

Pravda singled out Rep. Sol Bloom of New York, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, as an alleged leader of those "reactionary American circles" which are seeking "complete domination of the United Nations and its conversion into a tool of American policy."

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Twenty-three Germans, accused members of the Ehardts espionage ring, pleaded not guilty of activities harmful to the United States today at arraignment before an American military commission.

After pleas were entered a three weeks continuance of the trial was granted.

Clerk to Model

MARTHA JANE LEE, 21-year-old blonde information clerk at a Dallas, Tex., hotel, has been named the prettiest girl in Dallas by Harry Conover, model agency head. Conover spent three days selecting five Dallas girls to work for him and returned to the hotel to have his wife, Candy Jones, tell him to take a look at the clerk. Result: Miss Lee is bound for New York. (International)

Twenty-One Nations Are Represented In Passengers Of Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The former Troop Transport S. S. Marine Lynx was called the S. S. "Melting Pot" today.

The Lynx, now operated by the American President Lines, docked in San Francisco from Singapore and discharged 964 passengers representing 21 nations, plus eight stateless persons.

Largest of the national groups was the delegation of 312 Indian students bound for 55 American universities under the state department cultural relations program.

A spokesman for the group, 24-year-old, bespectacled Hardev Singh, explained:

"We want to study the technology of America—where it is at the highest level. And we get a warmer welcome here than we get in England."

Other nationalities aboard included American, Chinese, British, Dutch, Italian, Iranian, Iranian, French, Canadian, Polish, Siamese, German, Russian, Swiss, Hungarian, Czech, Burmese, Finnish, Austrian and the stateless—German Jewish refugees.

Other nationalities aboard included American, Chinese, British, Dutch, Italian, Iranian, Iranian, French, Canadian, Polish, Siamese, German, Russian, Swiss, Hungarian, Czech, Burmese, Finnish, Austrian and the stateless—German Jewish refugees.

The publication said: "The next security council meeting may well bring a crisis . . . the violence with Moscow is conducting her diplomatic battle against the Anglo-American gives the impression the Soviet government no longer believes in collaboration with the west."

Birthday Club Plans Corn Roast

On Saturday evening, members of the Birthday Club gathered with Mrs. Sally Deegan of 1030 South Mill street, for their regular meeting.

A splendid supper was served about 6:30. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Stewart.

Reminiscing and games of contest were the pastimes of the evening, with prizes falling to Mrs. J. D. Thompson and Miss Harriet Kennedy.

Special guest was Mrs. Thompson's sister, Mrs. Mabel Heller of Chicago.

Next meeting will take the form of a hamburger fry and corn roast at the residence of Mrs. George Huff of 312 North Cedar street.

Relatives Gather For Christening

Sunday afternoon, a group of relatives gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Canale of 205 West Madison avenue, and partook of a splendid dinner at one o'clock. The hostess was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Jennie Ruozzo, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Elvira Ruozzo.

The occasion was the christening ceremony for Jennie Ruozzo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruozzo, 1001 South Mercer street. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zumpella.

Divisions of the evening were instrumental music by Patsy Deluca, Joseph Frenkel and Joe Zumpella, also recordings by Ralph Garafalo.

Bloom To Urge U.N. Take Over Relief Functions

Would Have United Nations Take Over UNRRA Food Distribution Functions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Rep. Sol Bloom (D) N. Y., revealed today that he will urge the United Nations to take over UNRRA's food and relief distribution functions.

Bloom, who is chairman of the UN committee on UNRRA, said his committee probably will recommend this move to the UN general assembly meeting in New York September 23.

Bloom said he would convene the UN committee on UNRRA as soon as he has received a report from Rep. Ryter (D) Conn., his representative at the UNRRA general council meeting in Geneva.

Ryter is expected to return from Europe early this week.

Bloom pointed out that although the UNRRA organization would be out of business by the end of June, 1947, the need for it would continue long past that date.

He observed that the UNRRA machinery for relief distribution is fast losing personnel as employees hasten to find new jobs before the agency expires.

If Bloom said, the general assembly were to decide in September to take over UNRRA relief activities, the organization could be kept on the job as an experienced unit.

Bloom estimated that a United Nations relief set-up would remain in operation a year, or at most two, beyond the UNRRA expiration date, until the needy nations have been able to get their farms working and their factories in order.

Hoax Is Charged Against Husband At Milford Penna.

MILFORD, Pa., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Abraham Kohn, who staged a hoax drowning involving himself, his four sons and a Chinese boy to effect his wife's return home, was free under $100 bail today pending extradition to Connecticut.

Police said that P. Lawrence Epifanio, Fairfield county, Conn., prosecutor, had issued a warrant charging the 45-year-old bookkeeper with endangering the life of a minor.

The minor in the warrant is Lai K. Lun, Jr., three-year-old son of a Chinese laundryman who had boarded the boy with Kohn.

The group was discovered in a Milford hotel Saturday. A widespread search had been in progress for them since their empty rowboat was found floating in Long Island sound.

Meanwhile, police in Kohn's home town of Stamford, Conn., said there was no indication that Mrs. Kohn had been affected by his act.

R. F. CONWAY, Secretary.

Hunt Clues In Death Of Boy In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Police continued an exhaustive search today in an effort to unearth a clue that might solve the mysterious death of nine-year-old Raymond Howe, Jr., whose badly-decomposed body was found in a lonely field 41 days after his frantic parents had reported the youth as missing.

Supt. of Police Harvey Scott was inclined to believe the youngster might have been a victim of foul play, although he admitted there was little evidence uncovered to support a murder theory.

Coroner William D. McClelland reported the condition of the youth's body made it difficult to determine the exact cause of death. He said an autopsy indicated no evidence of injury by bone fracture, bullet or knife wounds.

Police said the body was discovered by Scott Terry, 42, of Pittsburgh, who was training his hunting dogs in the thick brush of the lonely field at the time.

Road Improvements Being Completed

Besides the rapid progress which is being made in grading the route which 422 will follow, the Highway Department reports that the road stabilization program throughout the county is about completed and that the department is now doing some concrete patching south of Wampum.

Four new roads have been added to the list to be "stabilized" before fall, which means that practically all of the county's roads will be "out of the mud", according to Highway Superintendent Fred Martin.

Final work on Pennsylvania avenue will be started next Monday, Mr. Martin added.

National forests of the United States provide recreation for more than 80,000,000 persons each year.

Army Engineers To Review Canal Report

Army engineers of the Pittsburgh district under the direction of Col. W. E. Lorence, district engineer, have started review of the Lake Erie-Ohio river canal report, it is announced.

This study was directed in a resolution passed July 10, 1946, by the Committee on Rivers and Harbors of the House of Representatives. Costs and benefits of the proposed waterway will be revised in line with current prices.

A study will be made of the advisability of providing a project depth suitable for both lake and river traffic. All commercial interests, whether opposed or in favor of the project, are being requested to submit data on the nature and volume of commodities that might be shipped over the canal. This will include local and distant movement and combined rail, river and lake operations.

Study Ashtabula Route
It is anticipated that the review will give consideration to a waterway substantially the same as the Pittsburgh-Ashtabula route described in the original report without reference to a stub end canal. In this report, a canal for 9-foot draft barges was proposed from the mouth of the Beaver river to a northern terminus on Lake Erie about 10 miles west of Ashtabula Harbor, O.

Large Crowd Enjoys June '41 Reunion

Class Has Informal Picnic At Football Camp Sunday, With 130 Attending

Meeting at the old football camp on the Muddy creek for an informal picnic, members of the June class of '41 of New Castle high school had their second reunion Sunday afternoon and evening.

Approximately 130 persons were present for the picnic luncheon at 6 o'clock, when the food was served buffet style from tables set up outdoors. Earlier in the afternoon, a number of the boys played basketball and badminton, while others enjoyed chatting with old friends, or dancing. Recorded music, played indoors, was broadcast throughout the picnic grounds by loudspeakers. After eating, the class assembled on the lawn for a business meeting and memorial service for the 10 members of the class who were killed during the war. Those who died were Mont Baughman, Dave Bradford, John Diana, Jack Hoshar, Clarence Horchler, Lewis Isaac, Jack Krepps, Hostus Stevens, Edward Pritchard and Jim Sadler. One girl, Frieda Gillespie, also died after the class graduation. Class President Earl Carr conducted the service, and also the election of officers which followed.

New alumni officers are: Dot Devlin, chairman; Tom Middleton, vice chairman; Joan Simpson, secretary; and Gerald Solomon, treasurer. This group is to plan next year's reunion. In the evening, the crowd moved indoors to dance, and to enjoy the fire in the large open fireplace. The reunion committee was assisted by many other members of the class and their guests during the day, both in preparing for the picnic and in cleaning up afterwards.

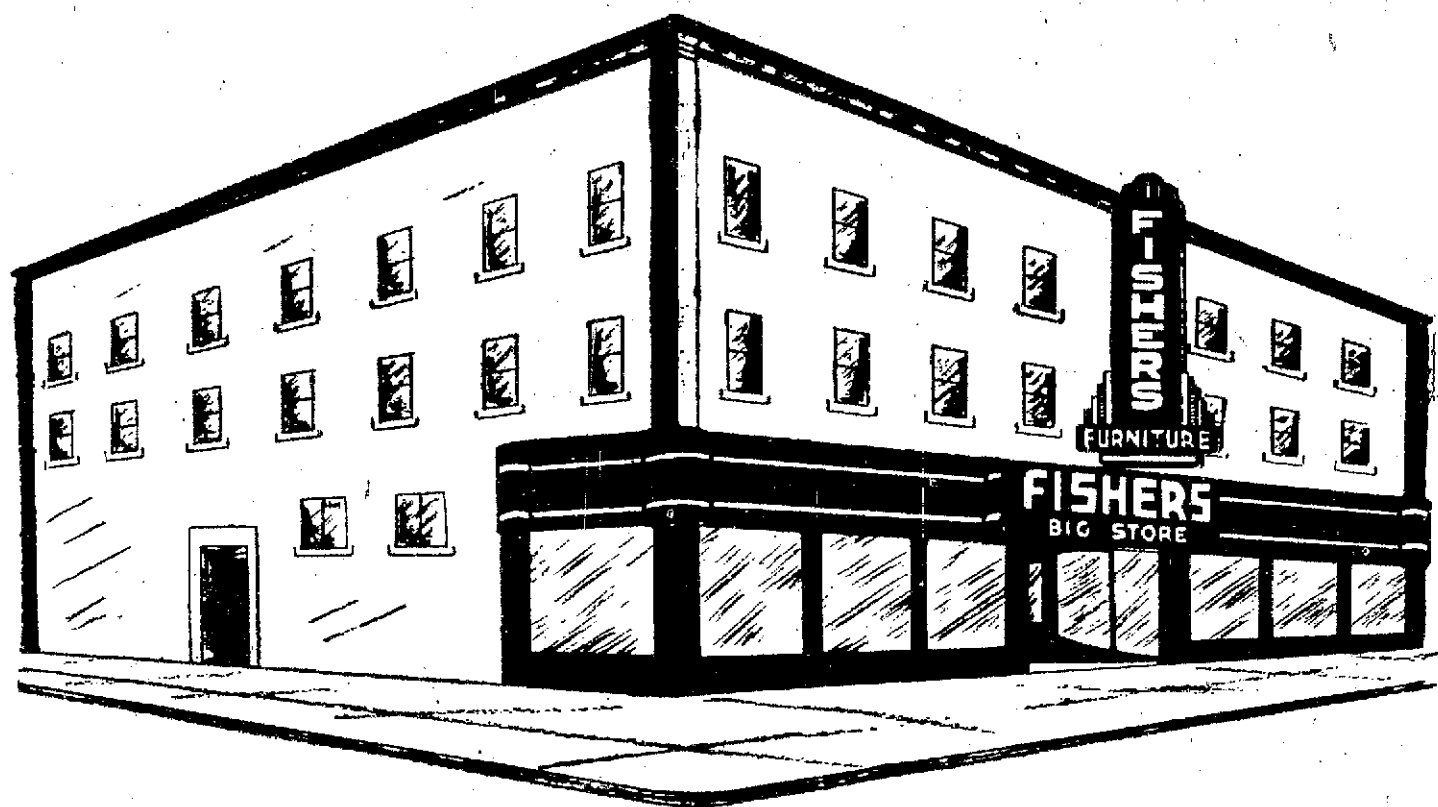

New Attempt To Rob Store Reported

Last week the Kerr Jewelry store was robbed of three watches when a window was broken and the thief shoved a long wire through the hole and withdrew three watches. At 6 a. m. today police discovered that a diamond or glass cutter had been used to deeply score a window in the same place in an effort to cut the glass. The act occurred between 4 and 6 a. m.

Clashes Threaten New Government Formed In India

NEW DELHI, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Troubled India was rent today by new clashes that threaten to beset the Hindu-dominated government formed by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress party president.

At Simla, a political stabbing hospitalized Sir Shafat Admad Khan, a Moslem who resigned from the Moslem league several days ago and then joined Nehru's interim governing council.

He dropped out of the league, which opposes Nehru and the British plan of government for India, because he would not comply with the league's demand that its members resign British titles.

The attack on Sir Shafat was attributed to Moslem sources. Following this attack, Simla magistrates banned the carrying of any weapons.

In the old city of Delhi, officials disclosed that Hindu-Moslem outbreaks caused four more deaths and injuries to 64 persons.

At Amritsar, the Sikh city of the Punjab, gathering of more than five persons were prohibited and Sikhs were ordered to put aside the knives they usually carry.

Police at Allahabad killed one person when they opened fire to disperse an embattled mob of Moslems.

In Madras, mill workers clashed and were dispersed by police gunfire. At least one person was wounded there.

Former Puppet Still On Stand At Tokyo Trials

TOKYO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Henry Pu-Yi, former puppet emperor of Manchukuo, spent his seventh day on the witness stand under defense cross-questioning today, which international war crimes tribunal Chief Justice Webb called a "waste of time."

Sir William Webb promised drastic action unless the trial of 27 accused Japanese war criminals is speeded up.

Ichiro Kiyose, attorney for former Premier Tojo, introduced two flowery, oriental poems Pu-Yi wrote praising the "heavenly alliance of Japan and Manchukuo."

Pu-Yi dismissed the poems as unimportant, declaring he wrote them for the Japanese "just to keep them happy."

The former boy emperor has claimed throughout his testimony that he headed the puppet regime in Manchuria only because the Japanese threatened to kill him if he refused to become emperor.

The British Empire covers about one-fourth of the world's habitable land surface, 13,499,597 square miles.

Several Persons Are Injured In Auto Collision

Several persons were injured when cars allegedly driven by Joseph Ventura, 17, of 21 Mill street, Rankin, and Mrs. Cienna O'Brien, of 615 South Ray street, collided on the Harlansburg-Slippery Rock highway at eight o'clock Saturday night. Ventura will be charged with reckless driving, state police reported today.

Ventura was hospitalized in the Jameson Memorial hospital with a severe laceration of the head. A young man and young woman with him were slightly hurt.

Mrs. O'Brien sustained lacerations on her knees and bruises. Her mother, Mrs. Hilda Jokinen, also received injuries. The latter was attended by a New Castle physician.

RUSSIAN PLANE MAKES EMERGENCY LANDING IN KOREA

SEOUL, Aug. 26.—(INS)—A Russian two-seater liaison plane made an emergency landing today at Kimpo airfield near Seoul in the American occupation zone of Korea.

A U. S. Twenty-Fourth Corps spokesman said the Soviet plane was en route from Dalven, southern Manchurian seaport, to Vladivostok in Siberia, when the pilot became lost and short on gasoline.

The landing was made without incident and the pilot was awaiting clearance to continue his flight.

COIN CLUB WILL MEET THIS EVENING

New Castle Coin Club will have its monthly meeting in the Y. M. C. A., at 8:30 p. m., when plans for the fall and winter activities will be discussed.

As usual, there will be a display of coins, president J. S. Ball announces, and some visitors are expected from surrounding clubs.

Claims Method Of Taking Sting Out Of Atomic Bombs

ROME, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Luigi Ighina, described by the newspaper Il Messaggero as an Italian scientist of some renown, claimed today he has discovered a way of taking the sting out of atomic bombs.

Ighina was quoted as saying his method is so sure-fire that he participated in the effects of the recent atomic bomb tests at Bikini atoll.

He said his procedure is to beam two atomic rays at an A-bomb, thus neutralizing its destructive power with the force of the rays' own energy.

CHILEAN LOSER IN CHANNEL SWIM

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Jorge Berroeta, long distance swimmer from Santiago, Chile, promised today to "have another try" at swimming the English channel after being defeated in his initial attempt by thunderstorms, eight-foot waves and a changing tide.

Berroeta almost made the tortuous course from France to England yesterday, only to give out when one-half mile from shore.

PRO-TITO WORKERS STRIKE AT TRIESTE

TRIESTE, Aug. 26.—(INS)—A sit-down strike by pro-Tito workers added to the already tense situation in Trieste today.

A joint detachment of military and civil police was dispatched to the Montefalcone shipyard but did not take any action against the strikers.

Allied military government headquarters announced that the police were sent to "maintain law and order following numerous instances of intimidation of workers."

The strike was called shortly after their arrival.

Fertilizers Will Be Manufactured At Ordnance Plants

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The war department today expanded its program to increase food supplies in war-ravaged countries by converting ordnance plants from munitions production to the manufacture of fertilizers.

The department announced that two additional plants will be used in the project, bringing to 17 the total number. These are the Cactus Ordnance Works at Elter, Tex., and the Wabash River Ordnance Works, Dana, Ind.

It was disclosed also that 15 of the plants will begin operations next month under the previously announced program. Nine commercial concerns have been retained as architect-engineers and managers.

Undersecretary of War Royall said that ten million bushels of wheat can be made available monthly to starving countries by manufacture of nitrogen fertilizers in the 17 army plants.

Royall said a total of 840,000 tons of ammonium nitrate fertilizer a year would be produced. It was pointed out that the 70,000 tons per month will be sufficient to add at least ten million bushels to world wheat production.

This amount of ammonium nitrate equals the entire monthly grain requirements of more than 20 million people.

The department said that it's felt that emergency production of fertilizer in the plants will enable famine-stricken countries to rehabilitate themselves more quickly, thus lessening overseas food requirements.

Barkley Says U. S. Working For 'One World'

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Sen. Alben Barkley (D Ky.), majority leader of the U. S. Senate, said today that the United States is working to build "one world" and to avoid a possible third world war.

Barkley stopped over in Paris on his way to a meeting of the executive council of the inter-parliamentary union in St. Moritz. He hoped to attend a plenary session of the peace conference at Luxembourg Palace on his way back to the United States. He said:

"We are working to build one world and are not drifting into two opposing forces and a possible third world war."

"The atmosphere of the world certainly is not ideal for creating a solid peace right now and all these irritations don't help to keep tempers even, but I am optimistic that we are on the right road—although it is a long one with a lot of hurdles. I feel sure that the people at home will back up our delegation here."

Live in Friendship

"We want to live in friendship with the rest of the world but we certainly don't want to see any one group doing all the ordering around. Certainly, we want to get along with the Russians, and we want to understand them."

"These attacks and irritations don't make for understanding, but I think we'll come out all right. We don't think the world is splitting up into two opposing forces. We prefer to think it's a hard job of building one single human force in the world—a hard job, but there's a good chance of accomplishment."

Sen. Barkley described Marshal Tito's "settling aside" of the U. S. ultimatum as "like a man who is all for prohibition, but doesn't want to see it enforced."

He said there was more pessimism surrounding the conference in Paris than could be found in the United States.

Cosmo Club Picnic Pronounced Success

Over 300 Turn Out For Fourteenth Annual Reunion And Picnic At El Rio Beach

Promised bad weather for the week end failed to materialize much to the delight of over 300 members of the local Cosmo Club and their families, resulting in one of the nicest reunions and picnics ever enjoyed by the group, at El Rio Beach on Sunday. Perfect picnic weather reigned throughout the day.

During the afternoon, a program of sports was in full swing, with many prizes being awarded to those who earned them when they engaged victors in the various contests. The games were participated in by young and old.

The large group sat down to the picnic and supper at 6 o'clock, with the club providing free refreshments to go with the meal.

During a business session, plans were laid for the annual corn roast, which will be an affair of early September.

Much of the success of the day's outing rested upon the shoulders of David Roscubun chairman and his assistants, Bennie Finkle and Sam Cohen.

A similar affair is planned for August of 1947.

Robert is a son of Mrs. Charles A. Henry, Sr., of Los Angeles, formerly of this city.

Gift Of Airfield To Army Officers Will Now Be Probed

Four Members Of Congress To Be Summoned To Shed Light On Transaction

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn has asked the House Surplus Property Investigating committee to summon as witnesses four members of Congress in connection with the government's gift of a $407,000 airfield to two high-ranking Army officers.

Lt. Gen. Littlejohn requested that the committee hear Sen. Mead (D) N. Y., and O'Mahoney (D) Wyo., and Reps. Manasco (D) Ala., and Lanham (D) Tex.

Committee Counsel Hugh Wise, Jr., revealed today that the WAA head, while Chairman Slaughter (D) Mo., that their testimony would be important in showing whether Congress intended that such gift should be made. Littlejohn pointed out that the four men were "instrumental in the writing of these (surplus property) laws and are fully cognizant of their intent."

There was no indication that any of the four had any personal knowledge or connection with the transaction, which is under investigation by the House committee. It was considered likely that Littlejohn wished to prove by their testimony that the WAA had a right under the law to "sell" the field to the officers at a 100 per cent discount.

A week ago the Senate War Investigating committee, while Manasco is chairman of the House Executive Expenditures committee and author of the original surplus property act, O'Mahoney and Lanham have been active in connection with surplus property legislation affecting veterans.

Fine Audience Turns Out To Hear Former Third U. P. Pastor

Rev. C. T. H. Yates Of Pittsburgh Speaks On 'The Cross' At Outdoor Evening Service

One of the largest audiences that has been in attendance at the Sunday evening lawn services on the lawn, adjacent to the First Christian church on the Public Square, turned out Sunday evening to hear a stirring address by Rev. Chester T. H. Yates of Pittsburgh, former pastor of the Third U. P. church, of this city. The service was the next to the last of the summer series.

Rev. Yates' address was based on the subject, "The Cross" and drew his remarks from the text found in I Chronicles 22:16 reading: "Arise therefore and be doing, and the Lord be with thee." He spoke of the suffering on the cross, in three phases, as the victorious cross, the victorious cross and finally the voluntary suffering on the cross.

Delbert Jackson was chairman of the service, with Dave Lewis directing the song service. Emma Patton presided at the piano. Duett numbers were sung by Jean Haug and David Reed, accompanied by Mrs. John Love at the piano.

During the service, it was announced that Rev. Russell J. Humbert, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church of Youngstown, O., would be the final speaker of the summer series. The minister of the New Castle Ministerial Association will serve as ushers during the service.

Monthly Meeting Of NAACP Sunday

Members of the New Castle branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People held their monthly meeting in the Second Baptist church Sunday afternoon.

Clarence A. Parnham, executive secretary of the Warren, O. Urban League, gave an inspiring address on the subject, "Inter-Racial Teamwork". In his address, Mr. Parnham stated that the Negro should be integrated into the community life by serving on various boards of the city's activities; take an active part in politics, and thus command the respect of other groups and contribute to the progress of the community.

Young people, he stated, should be urged to take advantage of the opportunity for higher education whenever possible, thus preparing himself for advancement.

Other numbers on the program included a vocal solo by Mrs. Carrie Cobb, piano numbers by Mrs. Lucy Miller and a reading by Miss Agnes Hollman. The sum of $50 was contributed to the local branch to be sent to the national office to help raise the $10,000 reward offered for the apprehension of the murderers of four innocent negroes of Monroe, Ga.

Mrs. Otha Jackson was elected a delegate to attend the state conference here September 27-29. Edwin Smith, Mrs. Lillian McHenry and Mrs. Eunice Farrow was the committee in charge.

Barkley Says U. S. Working For 'One World'

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Sen. Alben Barkley (D. Ky.), majority leader of the U. S. Senate, said today that the United States is working to build "one world" and to avoid a possible third world war.

Barkley stopped over in Paris on his way to a meeting of the executive council of the inter-parliamentary union in St. Moritz. He hopes to attend a plenary session of the peace conference at Luxembourg palace on his way back to the United States. He said:

"We are working to build one world and are not drifting into two opposing forces and a possible third world war."

"The atmosphere of the world certainly is not ideal for creating a solid peace right now and all these irritations don't help to keep things even, but I am optimistic that we are on the right road—although it is a long one with a lot of hurdles. I feel sure that the people at home will back up our delegation here."

Live in Friendship
"We want to live in friendship with the rest of the world but we certainly don't want to see any one group doing all the ordering around. Certainly, we want to get along with the Russians, and we want to understand them."

"These attacks and irritations don't make for understanding, but I think we'll come out all right. We don't think the world is splitting up into two opposing forces."

"We prefer to think it's a hard job of building one single human force in the world—a hard job, but there's a good chance of accomplishment."

Sen. Barkley described Marshal Tito's "settling aside" of the U. S. ultimatum as "like a man who is all for prohibition, but doesn't want to see it enforced."

He said there was more pessimism surrounding the conference in Paris than could be found in the United States.

DRIVER ARRESTED
After his car reportedly crashed into and wrecked two cars Saturday night in Butler avenue, city police arrested Michael Dudash of Portersville, Pa., today.

Charged by Police Captain W. G. McMullen with the offense before Alderman J. C. Kennedy, Dudash pleaded guilty and gave bail for court appearance.

REPORT MOTHER TAKES HER SON FROM HENRY HOME

Police received a report early this morning that Mrs. Mildred Houk, Takoma, Md., had taken from the Margaret Henry Home, the six-year-old son of herself and divorced husband, John H. Houk, of East Moody avenue.

Earlier in the afternoon she had visited police headquarters and asked for assistance in obtaining the son who, the report said, had been awarded her by a court.

They refused because it is a domestic affair.

TWO SMALL FIRES HERE OVER WEEKEND

City firemen were called out twice over the week-end for small fires.

At 9:15 p. m. Saturday, No. 5 company was called to extinguish a fire in the rear seat of an auto, owned by Lena Cassella, of 826 South Mill street.

At 2:40 a. m. Sunday, Third ward firemen were called to the rear of 519 North Cascade street, where a kid's shanty was ablaze. They extinguished the fire by use of their booster tank.

Gift Of Airfield To Army Officers Will Now Be Probed

Four Members Of Congress To Be Summoned To Shed Light On Transaction

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn has asked the House Surplus Property Investigating committee to summon as witnesses four members of Congress in connection with the government's gift of a $407,000 airfield to two high-ranking Army officers.

Mr. Littlejohn requested that the committee hear Sen. Mead (D. N. Y.) and O'Mahoney (D. Wyo.) and Reps. Manasco (D. Ala.) and Lanham (D. Tex.).

Committee Counsel Hugh Wise, Jr., revealed today that the WAA had wrote Chairman Slaughter (D. Mo.) that their testimony would be important in showing whether Congress intended that such gifts should be made.

Littlejohn pointed out that the four men were "instrumental in the writing of these (surplus property) laws and are fully cognizant of their intent."

There was no indication that any of the four had any personal knowledge or connection with the transaction, which is under investigation by the House committee. It was considered likely that Littlejohn wished to prove by their testimony that the WAA had a right under the law to "sell" the field to the officers at a 100 per cent discount.

Mead is chairman of the Senate War Investigating committee, while Manasco is chairman of the House Executive Expenditures committee and author of the original surplus property act.

O'Mahoney and Lanham have been active in connection with surplus property legislation affecting veterans.

Officially Name Taylor Street As Orange Crate Route

During council meeting today in city hall Mayor John P. Haven and colleagues gave permission to the Optimists' club to use Taylor street for the Orange Crate Derby, Labor day morning. The council will set aside the street for that purpose between 8 a. m. and noon.

CEMETERY GROUP PLANS MEETING

Members of the Pleasant Hill Cemetery Association will meet on Thursday and Friday, August 30 and 31, for the purpose of installing a fence around the old Pleasant Hill Cemetery and to clean up the grounds.

The cemetery has been run down for a number of years and the group will meet to beautify the cemetery grounds and install the fence. Those with relatives interred in the cemetery are to take care of the fence installation.

Fine Audience Turns Out To Hear Former Third U. P. Pastor

Rev. C. T. R. Yeates Of Pittsburgh Speaks On 'The Cross' At Outdoor Evening Service

One of the largest audiences that has been in attendance at the Sunday evening lawn services on the lawn, adjacent to the First Christian church on the Public Square, turned out Sunday evening to hear a stirring address by Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates of Pittsburgh, former pastor of the Third U. P. church, of this city. The service was the next to the last of the summer series.

Rev. Yeates' address was based on the subject, "The Cross" and drew his remarks from the text found in I Chronicles 22:16 reading: "Arise therefore and be doing, and the Lord be with thee." He spoke of Christ's suffering on the cross in three phases, as the victorious cross, the vicarious cross and finally the voluntary suffering on the cross.

Delbert Jackson was chairman of the service, with Dave Lewis directing the song service. Emma Patton presided at the piano. Duet numbers were sung by Jean Haug and David Rees, accompanied by Mrs. John Love at the piano.

During the service, it was announced that Rev. Russell J. Humbert, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church of Youngstown, O., would be the final speaker of the summer series. The minister of the New Castle Ministerial Association will serve as ushers during the service.

Sergeant Refuses To Let Operation Keep Him From Test

Proving that courage isn't something servicemen forgot about when they stopped thinking of foxholes and air raid shelters, a young staff sergeant who had a serious operation a week ago took the Civil Service examination at the Senior High school on Saturday.

A number of servicemen took the test for jobs with the postal service, and in order not to miss the exam, the sergeant had a skillful surgeon tape him up securely. He entered quietly and left the same way, asking assistance of no one. This boy was with the air corps in Italy for two years.

Survey Report On Causes Of Home Building Delay

Only 15.9 Per Cent Of New Homes Started In First Six Months Of 1946 Have Been Completed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Realtors throughout the nation today told why only 15.9 per cent of the new homes started in the first six months of 1946 have been completed.

The reasons are listed in reports of a survey by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which included 888 home builders in 330 cities and towns.

Controls Blamed
"Government controls, restrictions and changing policies."
"Materials going black market or not manufactured."
"Too many meaningless forms—no head, no tail."

"OPA and other government agencies putting every obstacle possible in our paths."
"Inability of government agencies to interpret their own directives."

"Too much delay caused by red tape in Federal Housing Administration office."

"Takes six months to complete government details before commencing construction."

"Shortages—OPA responsible."

Of the 888 realtors, 190 replied that they had no work underway at all. The 698 others had started 19,828 units in the first half of 1946 but had been able to complete only 3,156 or 15.9 per cent.

These completions, however, represented only 19.5 per cent of the 28,990 priorities for building materials they had obtained under the veterans' emergency housing procedure.

Shortages Big Delay
Principal stoppage of construction resulted from materials shortages, the realtors reported.

Lumber, soil pipe and plumbing were listed as the most difficult to obtain.

Government red tape was listed as the next major bottleneck. Labor shortages was considered a third, but comparatively minor factor in causing delays in completion of homes.

Traffic Accidents Take Lives Of Eight In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(INS)—At least eight Philadelphians were dead today as the result of week-end traffic accidents.

Four young men were killed and four other persons were critically injured when two automobiles collided head-on on the Black Horse Pike near Mays Landing, N. J.

Two women and a man were instantly killed early this morning when their light sports coupe ploughed into a Reading Railroad suburban train at a grade crossing two miles east of Lansdale.

None was immediately identified in the auto-train crash.

The eighth victim was 87-year-old John Wilkie, who was struck by an automobile while crossing the street near his home.

James P. McAloney, Jr., 19; Raymond P. Ratcliffe, 20; Thomas J. Murphy, 18; and Louis Raskow, 22.

McAloney was a Marine home on week-end pass from his post at Cherry Point, N. C. Raskow and Ratcliffe were ex-servicemen.

ONION CROP IS YEAR IS LARGE

Housewives preparing a welcome home for real beef hamburger can count on almost unlimited supply of cool and juicy onion slices from this year's plentiful crop.

C. S. Department of Agriculture estimates on July 1 indicate a crop of 3,873,000 50-pound sacks, a new record.

Acres of late summer onions exceeded only by that of 1944, is indicated for this year.

Governor Urges Taxicab Permits Be Given Vets

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The Public Utility Commission had a request from Gov. Edward Martin today "to give every consideration to taxicab franchise applications from veterans in Philadelphia and elsewhere."

The governor said, however, that his personal investigation of the situation in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh indicates that the services rendered by the taxicab companies are inefficient and inadequate.

He expressed hope that the P.U.C. would expedite a decision in the Philadelphia case.

Deshon Hospital Open September 1

Deshon hospital at Butler will be opened as a veterans' hospital September 1, the Veterans Administration in Washington announced.

Deshon, used as an Army general hospital during the war, originally was built by the state to serve as a tuberculosis hospital but never was used for that purpose.

It is among more than 30 "surplus" service hospitals acquired by the VA.

Car Is Stolen And Completely Stripped

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Francis L. Cain walked to work today even though police recovered his car which was stolen Saturday night.

And if it wasn't for the license plate, Cain wouldn't be so sure it was his car the police uncovered.

For missing from the sedan were four fenders, four hub caps, the door of the trunk, the radiator, the starter, the hood, the lights, bumpers, windshield wiper, gas tank, heater and rear seat.

SKILL DEMANDED IN HOUSING PULLETS

Fowls coming in from range undergo a complete change of environment, and if the birds are to react favorably to their new surroundings, this change must be made as gradual as possible. Otherwise sudden drops in egg yield may occur.

Catching the pullets on range at night or early in the morning and placing them in the houses at once usually is the best practice. At first place only a few pullets in each pen to be filled. Gradually add others as those already housed become adjusted to their new laying quarters.

To insure the comfort of the fowls, and to prevent setbacks which can affect health and egg production alike, the thoughtful poultryman will:

1. Handle pullets carefully to avoid injury and unnecessary fright.

2. Make the change in environment as gradual as possible.

3. Keep feed consumption increasing to assure gains in body weight and steady egg production.

4. Grade the pullets according to physical development and maturity toward egg production.

5. Watch ventilation to prevent fall colds.

6. Practice regularity in daily chores to meet pullet needs and to accustom the hens to the presence of their caretaker.

A.V.C. Convention Set For October

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's 30 chapters of the American Veterans Committee planned today to intensify their activities by establishing a state organization during a convention at Harrisburg October 27 and 28.

Local A.V.C. programs will be coordinated by the state body and directed at pushing measures beneficial to former servicemen and "the general public" through the legislature next year, according to Robert Sidman of Harrisburg, newly elected chairman of the Harrisburg branch.

He succeeded Thomas McConkey of Harrisburg who resigned.

A membership drive designed to increase ten-fold Pennsylvania enrollments of 5000 World War II veterans will be conducted from state headquarters, Sidman said.

INSPECTOR IN DISTRICT WILL LEAVE HIS POST

SHARON, Aug. 26.—Frank E. Macaulay, 470 E. street, state industrial inspector for the Mercer-Lawrence county district, has tendered his resignation, effective August 31. He and Mrs. Macaulay will take a prolonged vacation to the West Coast.

SHARON, Aug. 26.—Frank R. Macaulay, 470 B street, state industrial inspector for the Mercer-Lawrence county district, has tendered his resignation, effective August 31. He and Mrs. Macaulay will take a prolonged vacation to the West Coast.

Dodgers And Cards Split, Still Tied For Lead

Clubs Remain Deadlocked In National Race

Bums Take First Game, 3-2; Cards Bounce Back To Annex Nightcap, 14 To 8

BRAVES SUBDUED PIRATES TWICE

By LES KONKIN (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, baseball's "deadlock kids," will have it again in St. Louis tonight amid tension of unprecedented proportions.

Three times since Thursday, when the Cards finally pulled up on even terms with Brooklyn after an uphill chase, the Dodgers have gained a temporary half-game lead only to see St. Louis erase the advantage a few hours later.

Rube Minton probably will pitch for Brooklyn, with Murray Dickson on the mound for St. Louis.

The Dodgers won what they call "the big one" when Durocher masterminded his Dandies to a 3 to 2 decision in the opening thriller. The Brooklyn manager used every hunch in his fertile brain. His hunches finally paid off in the ninth inning when he sent Cookie Lavagetto to the plate as a pinch hitter. Cookie came through with a line single which gave Brooklyn a 3 to 2 victory.

When the Cards got off to a 10 to 0 lead after 12 innings of play in the nightcap, it appeared that they were going to demolish the Brooks for the balance of the series, let alone win the game. But at this point the Dodgers scored four runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth.

The Cards finally won, 14 to 3, with the game being called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness.

Boston's Braves downed Pittsburgh twice, 7 to 5 and 10 to 5. Cincinnati beat the Phillies 7 to 0 behind the four-hit pitching of Joe Beags, but the Phils took the nightcap, 4 to 1.

In the American League, Detroit's Hal Newhouse racked up his 22nd victory of the campaign, tying Ebb Feltner, by beating the New York Yankees 7 to 2. Newhouse added insult to injury by hitting the second home run of his career.

Ferriss Wins 23rd

Dave Ferriss of the Boston Red Sox passed both Newhouse and Feltner, registering his 23rd win, and 11th straight triumph, in beating Cleveland 2 to 1 in the first game of a twin bill. Ferriss held the Indians to five hits while the Red Sox got only four off Red Embree.

All three runs in this game were homers. Tom Jordan hit one for Cleveland and Bobby Doerr smacked two for Boston, his second one winning the game with two out in the ninth inning.

The Red Sox also won the second game, 13 to 6, and increased their lead over the second place Yankees to 14 games.

A pinch single by Early Wynn in the 12th staked Washington to an 8 to 4 decision over the St. Louis Browns.

Chicago's White Sox downed the Athletics 4 to 2 behind Ed Lopat, but the A's took the nightcap 6 to 5.

Montreal Wins International Flag

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 26.—(INS)—The Montreal Royals held the International League pennant today by splitting a doubleheader with the Rochester Redwings.

Rochester won the first in 12 innings, 3-2, and the Royals closed out all possible pennant contenders by taking the seven-inning nightcap, 4-2.

The Newark Bears held on precariously to their slim 11 percentage point second place margin as they split a twin bill with the third place Baltimore Orioles.

PLAN TO DISCUSS '46 WORLD SERIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Details of the 1946 World Series will be arranged today at a meeting of baseball men called by Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Representatives of the three leading teams in each league have been invited to attend the session, with American League President Will Harridge and National League President Ford Frick.

Bessemer High Grid Fortunes Looking Up

Coaches Ciccone - Glaspey Have Sixteen Hold-Overs—Nine Are Lettermen

Spirited Battles Being Waged For Halfback, Fullback Posts On Cementers

Dynamite is exploding in Bessemer this week as Coach William Ciccone, with his assistant, Robert Glaspey, whips this year's "Cementers" into shape for the first game on September 5. Out of a squad of 40 Coach Ciccone has 16 men returning from last year's squad, and nine of them are lettermen.

Hold-overs from the 1945 team are the two centers, Jim Martin and Don Reard, two tackles, Dave Pugh and Leonard Lombardi, and a guard, Don Baird. In the backfield the halves are Paul Madrin and speedster Bill Percie. In the tailback spot will be another fast man, Gildo Bianchi. Fullback is letterman Henry Pezzullo.

Lettermen are fighting for their positions. Regardless of the stuff they showed in battle last year there are freshmen who have the "guts and grill" and know-how, who are showing what they have.

Contested Spots

The hotly contested spots are Bill Percie's right half position, with freshman Phil Terotta, a fast man, and the laurels. For fullback four men want the post, Henry Pezzullo, the letterman, two freshmen, "Oony" Shaville and Al Tricock. Also probably Henry Pezzullo's brother, John. John is a veteran who was recently discharged, but isn't home yet. He is a fast man weighing 170. Coach Ciccone hopes the young soldier is available for he will be an asset to Bessemer's under-weight backfield.

Line Averages 160

Ciccone figured his line average at about 160 pounds with his backs holding only about 135 and 140 pounds. With his poundage the way it is, the Cementers' coach will develop his team using last year's system, an unbalanced line with a single wing.

There are a number of seventh and eighth graders out for practice to gain experience for future Bessemer teams. One man, destined to see a lot of action from class-up is senior Joe Tonya who will play end. Tonya was a basketball star last year in the Class B circuit.

Bessemer was victorious in four engagements last year and with lights for night football, expect to turn in an impressive record at the end of the season.

Buck Killed At Highland Heights

Eight-Point Buck Attempts To Cross Highway Near Johnstown's Dairy Farm

Eight point buck, weighing about 140 pounds, was killed when it bounded in front of the auto driven by J. Simpson, 1209 North Mercey street on the Highland Heights, New Wilmington highway at 11:30 p. m. Saturday, according to Game Protector William Overturf.

Simpson was driving near Johnstown's dairy toward New Castle when the buck started across the highway. He had no opportunity to avoid striking the deer. The front of his car was damaged.

The buck was donated by Overturf to the Salvation Army.

Kern Picks Four Grid Assistants

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Bill Kern, head coach of the University of West Virginia footballers, Saturday had named four new aides, including James M. Harris, Bellaire, O., former Notre Dame star.

Kern appointed Emil Narick, former assistant at Cornell, and Pete Yost to his staff for the start of the fall training Monday.

Harris, recently discharged from the Army Air Force, will serve as line coach. He formerly served as head coach at St. Benedict's college, Kan., and assistant for six years at Holy Cross and four years at Iowa university.

HILLSVILLE MEETS DUKES

Hillsville of the County League will clash with the Dukes D'Abruzzi club of the City loop in an exhibition tilt tonight at Marshall field, with game time set for 6 p. m.

Lee Features Pitt Scrimmage

Robert E. (General) Lee, New Castle's great Negro halfback of a few years ago, stole the show Saturday at Saltsburg when coach Wes Fesler sent his Pitt charge through their initial scrimmage, climaxing the end of the first week's training.

Bobby led the "Whites" to an 18-0 victory over the "Blues" with his scintillating runs. He broke loose twice in the first half, streaking around end for 50 yards and the first touchdown, and galloping back with a punt for 65 yards and the second mark.

The local flash held down the first team tailback spot and if he continues his fine play will probably be selected to oppose Illinois in the opener, September 21.

Elks Crushed At Wampum, 17-6

Legion Runs Wild, Scoring 13 Runs In 7th To Annex Second County Series Win

WAMPUM, Aug. 25.—If they weren't wearing baseball uniforms a casual observer might have thought he was watching the Marx brothers in a "Day at the Circus." Some 2,500 rabid fans sat amazed as the Wampum Legion trampled the Ellwood Elks 17-6 here Sunday, taking the second straight win of the county league series, and making them almost sure-shots to win the pennant.

The Legion, trailing 5-4 behind the Elks going into the bottom half of the seventh frame, broke loose in an orgy of scoring that seemed like it would never stop. With the on-lookers screaming, horns blowing and general bedlam evident, 13 big Legion runs trooped across the platter to give the Tube City club the soundest thrashing in two years.

Run Wild on Bases

The inning started calmly enough, with the first man, Jim Mills, flying out. But two men gained the sacks, and when Fontana doubled, scoring the tying run, Ellsworth Baader, the Elks hurler, who had been hot and cold all afternoon, was thumbed to the sidelines, and Tommy Baetrice took over. The Ellwood ace got a rude reception, however. The Legion bats continued to sing, and when the bases became crammed, Joe Mills tried to make the count by this time, 12-5. That was all for Mr. Baetrice. Ralph Ferrante came in to face a roaring fire and was consumed in the heart of it. Three straight singles, climaxed by Palagallo's triple upped the count to 17 for the locals. Bill Cole finally gathered in Jim Mills' fly and Joe Powell managed to end the slaughter.

Elks Start Scoring

Ellwood tapped Carmen Leopardo for the first tally of the game in the second when successive singles by Dougherty, Miller and Neiper produced the run. The Elks added another in the third when Hangst got a one-base solo, going to second on Craine's erratic throw. Ray Smith brought him in on a single.

Wampum gave a preview of the nightmarish seventh in the fourth frame. With two away, Craine singled over Smith's head, then Jim Mills and Joe Powell pumped singles into the outfield to score the colored star. Two doubles, with Leopardo and Joe Mills doing the hitting gave the Legion four runs for the frame.

The Tubers pecked away at Leopardo in the fifth. Milnes opened with a single, and stole second when Hangst fanned. Bill Cole then belted a hit and Friedhoff singled, scoring Milnes.

In the seventh the Elks shelled Leopardo from the slab. Smith took a brush on the shoulder to gain first, and Cole came through with a whizzing triple to score him. Frank Powell took over on the rubber. Friedhoff popped but Dougherty rapped a single to score Cole and put the Elks ahead. Although he was in this riot time, Powell receives credit for the win.

Manager "Bud" Wardman hurled the eighth and ninth frames for the locals and put out a mild fire in the final frame when the Elks vainly tried to rally with two out. Smith singled and Cole whizzed over his second triple of the game, scoring him. Friedhoff drew a pass, but Dougherty fled out to end the game.

Emery Miloser pitched the eighth inning for the Elks, to make a total of four chukkers for the bewildered visitors.

Wednesday the two clubs will battle again this time at the Flying Park field in Ellwood. Should Wampum win it is all over. The Elks will have to play "miracle" ball and win three straight to cop the flag. The odds rest heavily in favor of the Wardman club now.

Indies Defeat Universals, 4-2

First-Back Champs Turn Back Huff Club Before Large Crowd At E. & A. Field

George "Hoss" Zidow and his Lawrence Indies club played the kind of ball that swept them to the first half honors of the City league Sunday as they turned back the Universals, 4-2, in the lid-lifter of the "little world series" for the loop crown at the E. & A. diamond.

Zidow sent Russu to the hill to do the chucking for the Indies and he outpitched Paul Morrison, limiting the Universals to seven blows. Morrison was touched for nine hits over the route. The Indies flung a fanned six men and didn't issue one free ticket. Morrison whiffed four and gave up three walks.

Indies Score First

The Indies drew first blood in the third inning, but saw their opponents snarl the count at 1-1 in the fourth. From there on, though, the Zidow-piloted club pecked away at Morrison, gaining single tallies in the fifth, sixth and eighth frames. Universal came through with their second tally of the contest in the top half of the final inning.

Russu led the batting attack for the winners, smashing out three hits, a brace of singles and a double. Harvattine and Henry Kouzela each got two hits for the Indies.

P. Bullock was the only Universal player to collect two hits, both of them singles.

A crowd of over 3,000 witnessed the clash, the first of seven games for the league today. Wednesday evening the two clubs will resume play, meeting at the Washington field beginning at six o'clock.

Canco Golfers Play Tonight

American Can company golfers will go to the Castle Hills course this evening for a round in their league, with all matches to get underway by 5:30 o'clock. It was announced by Fred "Hotshot" Williams. The league will have five more matches then go into the loop championship playoff. The Redskins won the first-half and the Hawks are headed for the second-half title.

Elks Golfers Edge Aliquippa

"Slinger" McKee was the medalist with a 77 score as the Elks golfers trounced the Aliquippa Elks at the valley town Sunday, 42-36.

Ben Orent shot an 81 and Walt Vogan had an 84 card in the match. McKee and Al Garvin were the closest to the pin on the 15th hole in the contest.

After the match the local team was treated to a meal in the clubhouse. Tuesday the Elks will resume their regular play at the Sylvan Heights course, it was announced.

Going without a hat will not promote hair growth.

Ben Hogan Wins Portland Crown

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26.—Ben Hogan, the capsule-sized golfing killer from Fort Worth, Tex., today held his first major golf championship after a week of sometimes spectacular but always cold-blooded, steady, dead-eye Dick shooting.

He is the national professional champion of 1946 after struggling all these years through the high-ways and byways of the big time, with a major victory somehow or other always a pitch or a putt out of grasp.

Hogan continued a week-long routine of ruthlessness in the sunset yesterday to leave by the side of the rail the remains of big porky Ed Oliver, sweating, heaving and, by this time all but forgotten, Oliver was trounced and otherwise annihilated by a convincing final count of 6 and 4.

Hogan thus remained well in front of his colleagues from golf's menageries in money-winning and tournament triumphs. His total for the year, including the $3,500 from this championship win, stands at $33,377.

Baseball Game To Aid Injured Boy

South Hill and Ellwood City Elks will play a benefit game at six o'clock, Tuesday, at George Washington Junior High field. The game will benefit Joe Galambino, a 14-year-old youngster who suffered a severe injury to his hand recently at South Hill field.

Union Gridders Leave For Camp

Coaches Dinsmore-Patterson Take Squad Of 36 Tr Muddy Creek Falls Site

Union township high, one of the more progressive schools in the Class B circuit, sent 36 of its foot ball squad to camp today. Union has taken over the former Ne-Ca-Hi training site at Muddy Creek Falls.

Last week Union started practicing at their field with over half a hundred boys reporting. Coach Bob Dinsmore and his assistant, "Pat" Patterson, ran the boys through heavy practice sessions all week. On Saturday the select members were selected to train at camp.

Having one of the heaviest teams Union has had in some years, the coaches have invoked a complete training program, which includes two practice periods a day for the week.

Rise at 6:45

Unionites will be up and dressed at 6:45, when they will start a mile hike. Breakfast will be at 7:30 followed by a rest period. The first practice starts at 10:00 with a light lunch at 12:00 and another rest period.

In the afternoon, practice will start at 2:30, ending at 5:30 or 6:00. The boys will put their feet under the table again at 6:00. From 6:00 till 8:00 is free time for the fellows to use as they like. Skull drill continues from 8 to 9 p. m. Between 9:30 and 10:00 will be lights-out, thus completing a rugged enough schedule for any team.

One of the most popular men at camp this year will be Harold C. Dicks, camp cook.

Church Golfers Playing Tonight

New Castle church golfers will go to the Castle Hills course this evening to resume their matches with all matches to try and start before 6 o'clock if possible.

The card for tonight will be as follows: front nine—Christians vs. Baptists, Epworth vs. St. Marys; back nine—Highland vs. Temple; Mahoning vs. Harbor; First Presbyterians vs. Second U. P. Some very fine matches are sure to be played this evening.

There will also be matches Thursday. No matches will be played next week Labor Day and Field Day, it was announced.

New Wilmington, Saints Clashing

New Wilmington can win the North County loop tonight if they turn back the St. Margarets club at the Wilmington field as the two clubs resume their series play.

The Rodgers club enjoys a 2-1 edge in the series thus far and a victory tonight will do it. Game time has been set for 6 p. m.

Survey Report On Causes Of Home Building Delay

Only 15.9 Per Cent Of New Homes Started In First Six Months Of 1940 Have Been Completed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Realtors throughout the nation today told why only 15.9 per cent of the new homes started in the first six months of 1940 have been completed.

The reasons are listed in reports of a survey by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which included 888 home builders in 300 cities and towns.

Controls Blamed

Samplings showed: "Government controls, restrictions and changing policies."

"Materials going black market or not manufactured."

"Too many meaningless forms—no head, no tail."

"OPA and other government agencies putting every obstacle possible in our paths."

"Inability of government agencies to interpret their own directives."

"Too much delay caused by red tape in Federal Housing Administration office."

"Takes six months to complete government details before commencing construction."

"Shortages—OPA responsible."

Of the 888 realtors, 190 replied that they had no work underway at all. The 698 others had started 19,628 units in the first half of 1940 but had been able to complete only 3156 or 15.9 per cent. These completions, however, represented only 10.5 per cent of the 28,990 priorities for building materials they had obtained under the veterans' emergency housing procedure.

Shortages Big Delay

Principal stoppage of construction resulted from materials shortages, the realtors reported.

Lumber, soil pipe and plumbing

were listed as the most difficult to obtain.

Government red tape was listed as the next major bottleneck.

Labor shortages was considered a third, but comparatively minor factor in causing delays in completion of homes.

Traffic Accidents Take Lives Of Eight In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(INS)—At least eight Philadelphians were dead today as the result of week-end traffic accidents.

Four young men were killed and four other persons were critically injured when two automobiles collided head-on on the Black Horse Pike near Mays Landing, N. J.

Two women and a man were instantly killed early this morning when their light sports coupe ploughed into a Reading Railroad suburban train at a grade crossing two miles east of Lansdale.

None was immediately identified in the auto-train crash.

The eighth victim was 87-year-old John Wilkie, who was struck by an automobile while crossing the street near his home.

James P. McAlhany Jr., 19; Raymond P. Ratcliffe, 20; Thomas J. Murphy, 18; and Louis Raskow, 22.

McAlhany was a Marine home on week-end pass from his post at Cherry Point, N. C. Raskow and Ratcliffe were ex-servicemen.

ONION CROP IS YEAR IS LARGE

Housewives preparing a welcome home for real beef hamburger can count on almost unlimited supply of cool and juicy onion slices from this year's plentiful crop.

U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates on July 1 indicate a crop of 3,873,000 50-pound sacks, a new record.

Governor Urges Taxicab Permits Be Given Vets

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The Public Utility Commission had a request from Gov. Edward Martin today "to give every consideration to taxicab franchise applications from veterans in Philadelphia and elsewhere."

"The governor said, however, that his personal investigation of the situation in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh indicates that the services rendered by the taxicab companies are inefficient and inadequate."

He expressed hope that the P.U.C. would expedite a decision in the Philadelphia case.

Deshon Hospital Open September 1

Deshon hospital at Butler will be opened as a veterans' hospital September 1, the Veterans Administration in Washington announced.

Deshon, used as an Army general hospital during the war, originally was built by the state to serve as a tuberculosis hospital but never was used for that purpose.

It is among more than 30 "surplus" service hospitals acquired by the VA.

Car Is Stolen And Completely Stripped

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Francis L. Cain walked to work today even though police recovered his car which was stolen Saturday night.

And if it wasn't for the license plate, Cain wouldn't be so sure it was his car the police uncovered.

For missing from the sedan were four fenders, four hub caps, the door of the trunk, the radiator, the starter, the hood, the lights, bumpers, windshield wiper, gas tank, heater and rear seat.

SKILL DEMANDED IN HOUSING PULLETS

Fowls coming in from range undergo a complete change of environment, and if the birds are to react favorably to their new surroundings, this change must be made as gradual as possible. Otherwise sudden drops in egg yield may occur.

Catching the pullets on range at night or early in the morning and placing them in the houses at once usually is the best practice. At first place only a few pullets in each pen to be filled. Gradually add others as those already housed become adjusted to their new laying quarters.

To insure the comfort of the fowls, and to prevent setbacks which can affect health and egg production alike, the thoughtful poultryman will:

1. Handle pullets carefully to avoid injury and unnecessary fright.
2. Make the change in environment as gradual as possible.
3. Keep feed consumption increasing to assure gains in body weight and steady egg production.
4. Grade the pullets according to physical development and maturity toward egg production.
5. Watch ventilation to prevent fall colds.
6. Practice regularity in daily chores to meet pullet needs and to accustom the hens to the presence of their caretaker.

A.V.C. Convention Set For October

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's 50 chapters of the American Veterans Committee planned today to intensify their activities by establishing a state organization during a convention at Harrisburg October 27 and 28.

Local A.V.C. programs will be coordinated by the state body and directed at pushing measures beneficial to former servicemen and "the general public" through the legislature next year, according to Robert Sidman of Harrisburg, newly elected chairman of the Harrisburg branch.

He succeeded Thomas McConkey of Harrisburg who resigned.

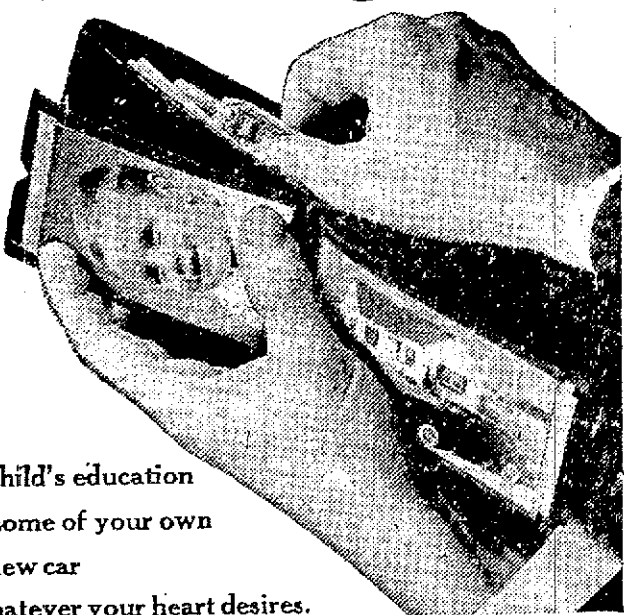

A membership drive designed to increase ten-fold Pennsylvania enrollments of 5000 World War II veterans will be conducted from state headquarters, Sidman said.

INSPECTOR IN DISTRICT WILL LEAVE HIS POST

SHARON, Aug. 26.—Frank E. Macaulay, 470 B street, state industrial inspector for the Mercer-Lawrence county district, has tendered his resignation, effective August 31. He and Mrs. Macaulay will take a prolonged vacation to the West Coast.

Survey Report On Causes Of Home Building Delay

Only 15.9 Per Cent Of New Homes Started In First Six Months Of 1946 Have Been Completed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Realtors throughout the nation today told why only 15.9 per cent of the new homes started in the first six months of 1946 have been completed.

The reasons are listed in reports of a survey by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which included 888 home builders in 360 cities and towns.

Controls Blamed

Samplings showed:

"Government controls, restrictions and changing policies."

"Materials going black market or not manufactured."

"Too many meaningless forms—no head, no tail."

"OPA and other government agencies putting every obstacle possible in our paths."

"Inability of government agencies to interpret their own directives."

"Too much delay caused by red tape in Federal Housing Administration office."

"Takes six months to complete government details before commencing construction."

"Shortages—OPA responsible."

Of the 888 realtors, 190 replied that they had no work underway at all. The 698 others had started 19,828 units in the first half of 1946 but had been able to complete only 3156 or 15.9 per cent. These completions, however, represented only 10.5 per cent of the 28,990 priorities for building materials they had obtained under the veterans' emergency housing procedure.

Shortages Big Delay

Principal stoppage of construction resulted from materials shortages, the realtors reported.

Lumber, soil pipe and plumbing

were listed as the most difficult to obtain.

Government red tape was listed as the next major bottleneck.

Labor shortages was considered a third, but comparatively minor factor in causing delays in completion of homes.

Traffic Accidents Take Lives Of Eight In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(INS)—At least eight Philadelphians were dead today as the result of week-end traffic accidents.

Four young men were killed and four other persons were critically injured when two automobiles collided head-on on the Black Horse Pike near Mays Landing, N. J.

Two women and a man were instantly killed early this morning when their light sports coupe ploughed into a Reading Railroad suburban train at a grade crossing two miles east of Lansdale.

None was immediately identified in the auto-train crash.

The eighth victim was 87-year-old John Wilkie, who was struck by an automobile while crossing the street near his home.

Dead in the Black Horse Pike tragedy were:

James P. McAluney Jr., 19; Raymond P. Ratcliffe, 20; Thomas J. Murphy, 18; and Louis Raskow, 22.

McAluney was a Marine home on week-end pass from his post at Cherry Point, N. C. Raskow and Ratcliffe were ex-servicemen.

ONION CROP IS YEAR IS LARGE

Housewives preparing a welcome home for real beef hamburger can count on almost unlimited supply of cool and juicy onion slices from this year's plentiful crop. U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates on July 1 indicate a crop of 3,873,000 50-pound sacks, a new record.

Acres of late summer onions exceeded only by that of 1944, is indicated for this year.

Governor Urges Taxicab Permits Be Given Vets

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The Public Utility Commission had a request from Gov. Edward Martin today "to give every consideration to taxicab franchise applications from veterans in Philadelphia and elsewhere."

The governor said, however, that his personal investigation of the situation in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh indicates that the services rendered by the taxicab companies are inefficient and inadequate. He expressed hope that the P.U.C. would expedite a decision in the Philadelphia case.

Deshon Hospital Open September 1

Deshon hospital at Butler will be opened as a veterans' hospital September 1, the Veterans Administration in Washington announced.

Deshon, used as an Army general hospital during the war, originally was built by the state to serve as a tuberculosis hospital but never was used for that purpose. It is among more than 30 "surplus" service hospitals acquired by the VA.

Car Is Stolen And Completely Stripped

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Francis L. Cain walked to work today even though police recovered his car which was stolen Saturday night.

And if it wasn't for the license plate, Cain wouldn't be so sure it was his car the police uncovered.

For missing from the sedan were four fenders, four hub caps, the door of the trunk, the radiator, the starter, the hood, the lights, bumper, windshield wiper, gas tank, heater and rear seat.

SKILL DEMANDED IN HOUSING PULLETS

Fowls coming in from range undergo a complete change of environment, and if the birds are to react favorably to their new surroundings, this change must be made as gradual as possible. Otherwise sudden drops in egg yield may occur.

Catching the pullets on range at night or early in the morning and placing them in the houses at once usually is the best practice. At first place only a few pullets in each pen to be filled. Gradually add others as those already housed become adjusted to their new laying quarters.

To insure the comfort of the fowls, and to prevent setbacks which can affect health and egg production alike, the thoughtful poultryman will:

1. Handle pullets carefully to avoid injury and undue stress.
2. Make the change in environment as gradual as possible.
3. Keep feed consumption increasing to assure gains in body weight and steady egg production.
4. Grade the pullets according to physical development and maturity toward egg production.
5. Watch ventilation to prevent fall colds.
6. Practice regularity in daily chores to meet pullet needs and to accustom the hens to the presence of their caretaker.

Like the tenor who drowns out the quartet, sometimes there's a tendency to "drown out" the others on a party-line telephone. Making a series of calls with no pauses between them, for example. If you have to make several calls, the thoughtful thing to do is to space them so that others may use the phone in the meantime. Party-line service is good service when everyone remembers the Golden Rule . . . it's a good one.

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Staff Editor)
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26.—Bill Kyne, a fast talking, free-wheeling sort of guy, has struck upon a way to keep horse racing from floundering into the hands of the reformers and to make racing help at the same time in rehabilitation of war veterans.

A Californian by birth and inclination, Kyne has been a lot of places in the horse racing business since he started selling papers around the tracks, and first watched those babies gallop.

He later built tracks at Reno, Phoenix, Salt Lake City and elsewhere, and for a time was Main Win's tenant at old Juarez. His best operation is his current one near San Francisco, his famed Bay Meadows, where they handle a million with the greatest of ease.

Builds New Track
He now is completing Portland Meadows for opening on Sept. 14 at a cost of a million and a quarter in big, shiny western dollars. He is going to help launch another plant at Puente, Cal., for A. J. Unick with three millions of those bucks on the line before they blow the bugle. Unick told Kyne over the phone today that a million dollar's worth of stock was sold this week alone.

Knows The Racket
Our hero knows the racket from the nickel and dime end concerned with hustling newspapers on up through the stratosphere where they talk in terms of a million—and will lay it on the line.

Knowing all about it as he does, he comes up with the duly considered proposition that the kids who fought in the war should cash in on racing's soaring profits permanently.

Then with equal wisdom, he says, "We will be helping them and they will be helping racing. They will keep it alive and because racing will be contributing to a worthwhile cause the reformers and their banners will be a long time arriving, if at all."

Organize Vets Loans
"The California jockey club at Bay Meadows, which recently financed a veterans loan organization, and the veterans will get some more millions in due course for home loans and such."

"Bay Meadows gave outright three and a half million to war relief of one kind and another and we have set aside $125,000 in stock for Oregon veterans in the new Portland Meadows track. We probably will give them another $125,000."

"This will enable them to share in the profits permanently, and keep the money out of the hands of the wrong people."

"I wouldn't attempt to tell somebody else how to run his business, but racing everywhere should pitch in for the kids who spent all those months and years playing bullets and bombs into broken bodies."

The new Portland Meadows track is designed for night racing, this being one of only two or three states that permits the horses to run in the evening.

Lost Money Once
Kyne lost money here with Gresham Fair racing a dozen years but says this time it looks all right. He needs about 5,000 customers an evening to break even.

And the customers will get the best brand of racing to be had anywhere, for the California tracks will not be in operation during the time of the local meeting each year.

He thinks this one is a cinch to be a huge success with all the good horses that will be available, and a lot of crippled kids in the Portland Veterans Hospital hope he is right.

Plans Night Racing
This fabulous character will in any case inaugurate night horse racing to a major plan with a lighting system fashioned after the one used in New York's Yankee Stadium for baseball—said to be the best in the world.

The horses will run before a background of aluminum and be as clearly visible as though the thing were being conducted in the natural way during the afternoon.

Kyne thinks other tracks will get around to night racing in due time and he's convinced they will have to cut in some worthy cause on their profits but soon.

Castlewood Tops
Zelienople, 5-0

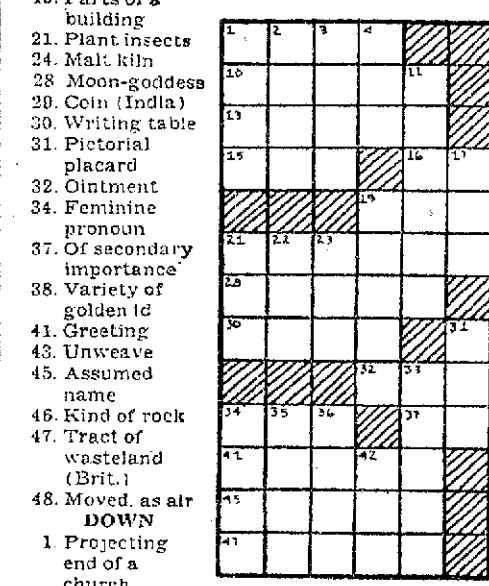

With Johnny Hulick twirling a two-hitter, Castlewood of the County League blanked the Zelienople club in an exhibition game at the Zelie field, Sunday, 5-0. Baker was the losing pitcher.

Tuesday evening like two clubs will meet again, this time at the Castlewood site, it was announced.

He now is completing Portland Meadows for opening on Sept. 14 at a cost of a million and a quarter in big, shiny western dollars. He is going to help launch another plant at Puenie, Cal., for A. J. Uniak with three millions of those bucks on the line before they blow the bugle.

Uniak told Kyne over the phone today that a million dollar's worth of stock was sold this week alone.

Kyne owned horses until 1920, then sold out because he figured a fellow running tracks shouldn't be mixed up in the owning end of the business.

Knows The Racket
Our hero knows the racket from the nickel and dime end concerned with hustling newspapers on up through the stratosphere where they talk in terms of a million—and will lay it on the line.

Knowing all about it as he does, he comes up with the guy considered proposition that the kids who fought in the war should cash in on racing's soaring profits permanently.

Then with equal wisdom, he says: "I will be helping them and they will be helping racing. They will keep it alive and because racing will be contributing to a worthwhile cause the reformers and their banners will be a long time arriving, if at all."

Organize Vets Loans
"The California jockey club at Bay Meadows only recently financed a veterans loan organization, and the veterans will get some more millions in due course for home loans and such."

"Bay Meadows gave outright three and a half million to war relief of one kind and another and we have set aside $125,000 in stock for Oregon veterans in the new Portland Meadows track. We probably will give them another $125,000."

"This will enable them to share in the profits permanently, and keep the money out of the hands of the wrong people."

"I wouldn't attempt to tell somebody else how to run his business, but racing everywhere should pitch in for the kids who spent all those months and years paralyzing bullets and bombs into broken bodies."

The new Portland Meadows track is designed for night racing, this being one of only two or three states that permits the horses to run in the evening.

Lost Money Once
Kyne lost money here with Gresham Fair racing a dozen years but says this time it looks all right. He needs about 5,000 customers an evening to break even.

And the customers will get the best brand of racing to be had anywhere, for the California tracks will not be in operation during the time of the local meeting each year.

He thinks this one is a cinch to be a huge success with all the good horses that will be available, and a lot of crippled kids in the Portland Veterans Hospital hope he is right.

Plans Night Racing
This fabulous character will in any case introduce night horse racing to a major plant, with a lighting system fashioned after the one used in New York's Yankee Stadium for baseball—said to be the best in the world.

The horses will run before a background of aluminum and be as clearly visible as though the thing were being conducted in the natural way during the afternoon.

Kyne thinks other tracks will get around to night racing in due time and he's convinced they will have to cut in some worthy cause on their profits but soon.

Sarlin To Box Pat Comiskey

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 26.—Erv Sarlin, the sturdy, aggressive Pittsburgh heavyweight, will be making his first bid for national prominence at Forbes Field, Wednesday night, Sept. 4th, when he stacks up against Pat Comiskey, the giant Irish boy from Paterson, New Jersey in one of the three ten round bouts on the Rooney-McGinley All-Star show.

After almost four and a half years in the army, the hard hitting local boy has hit his stride and turned in two impressive victories in the last times one over Jackie Canforo, the highly touted Chris Dundee protege and the other over Buddy Komar, likely looking McKeeport puncher.

Cincinnati Team Wins V.F.W. Title

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Cincinnati's Elmwood Veteran of Foreign Wars team today held the VFW national softball title, following its 2 to 0 defeat of Post 470 of Erie, Pa.

After its triumph yesterday, the Cincinnati club was given a team trophy and each player was presented with a wrist watch.

BUCKNELL BEGINS FALL GRID DRILLS

LEWISBURG, Pa., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Fifty-two members of the Bucknell University's football team were scheduled today to begin practice at Lewisburg September 3.

The Bison's will open the season with Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y., twenty-five days later.

Decide National Doubles Today

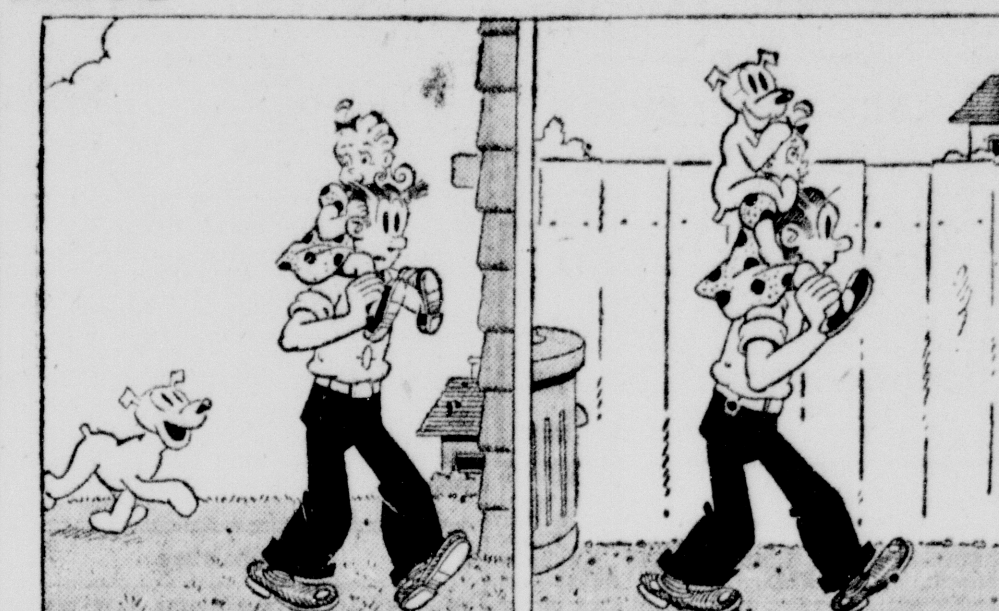

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Defending champions Gardner Mulloy and Bill Talbert and fourth-seeded Don McNeill and Frank Guernsey met today to decide the National Men's Doubles Tennis championship at Longwood Cricket club.

McNeill and Guernsey scored the biggest upset of the tournament when they eliminated second-seeded Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder in the semi-finals, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Mulloy and Talbert ran into considerable difficulty with Frankie Parker and Bob Falkenburg in the semi-finals before subduing the Californians, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Labor Relations board said that the date for a hearing on an unfair labor practices charge lodged against the Pittsburgh Pirates management would be announced August 28.

Need Two Beds To Provide For Man In Hospital

Circus 'Fat Man' Weighing 721
Pounds Suffers Slight Heart Attack At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(INS)—This may sound like a tall tale but hospital attaches reported today that John Porter was resting comfortably in two beds.

John, who plays the role of a "fat man" in circuses and weighs a mere 721 pounds, was stricken with a slight heart attack while traveling on a train en route to his Dauphin, Pa., home.

To transfer the 54-year-old patient from the train to the hospital was a herculean task, requiring the services of 18 men.

It took nine able-bodied men to lift John's ample form from the train to the ambulance and another nine to carry him from the ambulance to the hospital elevator.

Finally, the doctors had to lash two beds together in order to make the fat man comfortable.

Porter suffered a heart attack a month ago while playing in a circus in the Midwest, according to his physician.

Doctors said he suffered a mild recurrence of the heart ailment yesterday and will require a week's rest before he can continue his trip to his home near Harrisburg.

Wounded Veterans Are Being Placed On Jobs In Nation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(INS)—The Veterans Administration disclosed today that giants of American industry are cooperating in a program designed to place virtually all of the nation's physically handicapped World War II veterans in gainful employment.

Dr. Donald A. Covalt, VA assistant medical director, said that assurance of aid in the plan has been received from such industrial titans as Ford, General Motors, General Electric, International Business Machines, Bulova Watch, and other huge corporations.

Covalt declared: "We have proved to industry that the man who had the courage to fight for his country and the even greater courage to overcome the physical handicap of a double amputation or a broken back is the kind of worker an employer wants and needs."

A demonstration was conducted in New York recently in which 10 war-disabled veterans, some of them legless, some without arms, some with broken backs, displayed to representatives of more than 300 firms their mechanical skill and craftsmanship.

National Officers Of Eagles Named

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26.—James W. Bryan, Jr., Bremerton, Wash., city attorney and former University of Washington all-American football player, was elected grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Saturday.

Other officers chosen included Raymond P. McElroy of Providence, R. I., vice president; Harry Queen, Rockford, Ill., chaplain; Charles C. Guenther, Pittsburgh, grand secretary; William Wetherald of Zanesville, O., grand treasurer; John R. Taggart of Buffalo, conductor; Daniel E. Claver of Lansing, Mich., inside guard; Charles H. Jones of Chattanooga, Tenn., outside guard.

FAIR OR FOUL
LAWTON CARVER
International News Service

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Staff Editor)

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26.—Bill

Kyne, a fast talking, free-wheeling sort of guy, has struck upon a way to keep horse racing from floundering into the hands of the reformers and to make racing help at the same time in rehabilitation of war veterans.

A Californian by birth and inclination, Kyne has been a lot of places in the horse racing business

since he started selling papers around the tracks and first watched those babies wallop.

He later built tracks at Reno,

Phoenix, Salt Lake City and else-

Winn's tenant at old Juarez. His

near San Francisco, his famed Bay

lion with the greatest of ease.

Builds New Track

He now is completing Portland

Meadows for opening on Sept. 14 at a cost of a million and a quarter in big, shiny western dollars. He is going to help launch another plant at

Escondido, Cal., for A. J. Unlick with

line before they blow the bugle.

Unlick told Kyne over the phone today that a million dollar's worth of stock was sold this week alone.

Kyne owned horses until 1920, then sold out because he figured a fellow running track shouldn't be run up in the owning end of the business.

Knows The Racket

Our hero knows the racket from the nickel and dime end concerned with hustling newspapers on up through the stratosphere where they talk in terms of a million—and will lay it on the line.

Knowing all about it as he does,

he comes up with the duly considered proposition that the kids who fought in the war should cash in on racing's soaring profits permanently.

Then with equal wisdom, he says:

"We will be helping them and they will be helping each. They will keep it alive and because racing will be contributing to a worthwhile cause the reformers and their banners will be a long time arriving, if at all.

Organize Vets Loans

"The California jockey club at Bay Meadows only recently financed

the veterans will get some more millions in due course for home loans and such.

"Bay Meadows gave outright three and a half million to war relief one kind and another, and we have set aside $125,000 in stock for Oregon veterans in the new

Portland Meadows track. We probably will give them another $125-

000.

"This will enable them to share in the profits permanently, and keep the money out of the hands of the wrongdoers.

"I wouldn't attempt to tell somebody else how to run his business, but racing everywhere should pitch in for the kids who spent all those months and years paralyzing bullets

and bombs into broken bodies."

The new Portland Meadows track is designed for night racing, this being one of only two or three states that permits the horses to run in

Lost Money Once

Kyne lost money here with

ago but says this time it looks all right.

He needs about 5,000 customers an evening to break even.

And the customers will get the best brand of racing to be had anywhere, for the California tracks will not be in operation during the time

He thinks this one is a cinch to be a big success with all the good horses that will be available, and a lot of crippled kids in the Portland

Veterans Hospital hope he is right.

Plans Night Racing

This fabulous character will in any case introduce night horse racing to a major plant with a lighting system fashioned after the one used in New York's Yankee Stadium for baseball—said to be the best in the world.

The horses will run before a background of aluminum and be as clearly visible as though the thing were being conducted in the natural way during the afternoon.

Kyne thinks other tracks will get around to night racing in due time and he's convinced they will have to cut in some worthy cause on their profits but soon.

Castlewood Tops

Zelenople, 5-0

With Johnny Hulick twirling a two-hitter, Castlewood of the County league blanked the Zelen-ople club in an exhibition game at the Zelle field, Sunday, 5-0. Baker was the losing pitcher.

Tuesday evening the two clubs will meet again, this time at the Castlewood site, it was announced.

Sarlin To Box
Pat Comiskey
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 26.—Erv Sarlin, the sturdy, aggressive Pittsburgh heavyweight, will be making his first bid for national prominence at Forbes Field, Wednesday night, Sept. 4th, when he stacks up against Pat Comiskey, giant Irish boy from Paterson, New Jersey in one of the three ten round bouts on the Rooney-McGinley All-Star show.

After almost four and a half years in the army, the hard hitting local boy has hit his stride and turned in two impressive victories his last times out, one over Jackie Cranford, the highly touted Chris Dundee protege and the other over Buddy Komar, likely looking McKeesport puncher.

Cincinnati Team Wins V.F.W. Title
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Cincinnati's Elmwood Veteran of Foreign Wars team today held the VFW national softball title, following its 2 to 0 defeat of Post 470 of Erie, Pa.

After its triumph yesterday, the Cincinnati club was given a team trophy and each player was presented with a wrist watch.

Erie was given a second-place trophy.

BUCKNELL BEGINS FALL GRID DRILLS
LEWISBURG, Pa., Aug. 26.—(INS)—Fifty-two members of the Bucknell University's football team were scheduled today to begin practice at Lewisburg September 1. The Bisons will open the season with Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y., twenty-five days later.

Long Shot Wins American Derby
CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Eternal reward—and how! Or maybe you haven't heard about the greatest upset in the history of America's major racing stakes.

Eternal Reward owned by Louis Augustus and Charles Nahn of Louisville, came rocketing from nowhere to win the 35th renewal of the fabulous $102,250 American Derby, Sat. Saturday at Chicago's Washington Park.

Eternal Reward was priced at odds of $101.80 to the dollar and returned the giddy sum of $203.60 for each of the 389-odd win tickets placed hesitantly upon his nose.

McNeill and Guernsey scored the biggest upset of the tournament when they eliminated second-seeded Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder in the semi-finals, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Mulloy and Talbert ran into considerable difficulty with Frankie Parker and Bob Falkenburg in the semi-finals before subduing the Californians, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Labor Relations board said that the date for a hearing on an unfair labor practices charge lodged against the Pittsburgh Pirates' management would be announced August 28.

There's always fun in a trip by car when everything's running fine...

One way to see that everything does is... watch for the Esso sign!

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN YEARS, you're driving for fun this summer. And the familiar red, white and blue ESSO Dealer sign can help you make sure you get it. From Maine to Louisiana it signals "Happy Motor-ing." It stands for high quality in gasoline and oil, as well as ATLAS Tires, Batteries and Accessories. Before you start your summer trips—and when you're on the road—make it your regular stopping place!

Remember, too—careful driving counts today as never before! The Sign of "Happy Motor-ing"

War Dads' Evolve

New Way To Aid

G. I.'s Now In College
MACOMB, Ill.—(INS)—Strolling along through the still green grass across the little campus of Western Illinois State Teachers College, you'd never know that a war had come and gone.

That is, you'd never know it if you didn't look down behind the girls' dormitory where they've thrown up barracks-like buildings to house the veterans who at last have come home.

Or you wouldn't know it if you didn't take a second look at the students themselves, now about ready to start a new fall term.

Here and there, you see one limping along with his books in his arm—his eyes daring anyone to sympathize. Down through the ravine you see a youngster in Dakar boots (strictly air corps), ambling along with his wife and kid.

Scene Duplicated.
It's the same sort of scene that is being duplicated all across the country about now, but there's one part of the picture which is different here.

The veterans who are starting to school under the terms of the G. I. Bill of Rights aren't worrying very much about whether their allowance check will be late this month.

Because if it is, they know where they'll get the money—from the Macomb chapter of the "American War Dads."

They can get it in half an hour's time. And since it's practical veterans' aid project which might be repeated elsewhere in the country's college towns, perhaps it bears outlining.

It was about a year ago now that the first heavy wave of vets began to re-enroll at Western, picking up their education where they left off. It wasn't an easy job, trying to get along on the monthly veterans' allowance, plus whatever dough they could pick up on the side.

And it was especially tough if the government checks were late—which they often were, due to the inevitable crush on the veterans' administration.

Aid Is Extended.
Somebody told the Macomb war dads about it. Q. Ray Reedy, past president of the organization and chairman of its waste-paper drive, doesn't remember exactly who did.

"But it didn't matter," he said. "The important thing was that we'd been looking for ways to help these kids out—and here was our chance to do something practical."

Previously, the waste paper drive—which normally netted from $300 to $500 each of the ten times the war dads had conducted it—had been used to send spending money to Macomb boys overseas. But now they decided to put it to a better use.

"We set up an interest-free veterans' emergency loan fund out at the college," Reedy, whose son was with the Marines in the Pacific and whose daughter was a nurse, said. "All the kids had to do to get the loan when their check was late—was to get a letter signed by Colonel M. N. This, the dean of men, and President Frank A. Beau at school. The letter just told who they were and what they needed."

Need Great.
Usually the need was pretty great, as almost any veteran trying to finish his education anywhere can tell you. For one thing, few vets have had time to establish credit in college towns. And most of them have had little experience trying to float loans. But this one is simple.

"They just bring the letter in," Harold Noel (Macomb banker who is fund treasurer) and he gets the okay of the fund committee and the loan is made," Reedy said. "Other members of the committee are Circuit Clerk H. S. Bobbitt and Elery Leefers, an insurance man."

What Reedy didn't say, wanting things to look official, was that, for all practical purposes, Noel carries the rest of the members' proxies. The letter from the college is considered sufficient information for approval.

With each waste paper drive—a volunteer affair, involving from a dozen to 40 trucks, and anywhere up to 200 men and boys—the fund swells. Even Reedy doesn't know just how much is in it right now, Reedy said.

"We loan the boys up to $100, or else up to the amount of their allotment check. Then, when they get the check, they pay it back. Up to now, all the loans have been promptly repaid—and were not worrying."

Neither are the vets, which is why other communities might take notice.

RICH HILL

CHURCH NOTES

There was a congregational meeting on Sunday morning, Aug. 25, to officially accept the call of Rev. A. B. Weiss to the pastorate here. The ladies of the church will meet at the Manse on Wednesday morning for the purpose of reading it for rededication.

Sixty persons were in attendance at the Sunday school picnic which was enjoyed at New Wilmington Park Thursday evening. J. E. Carr had charge of the social hour.

Manufacturers! Farmers! Retailers!

Modern, Direct Truck Transportation is Often
Faster than the U. S. Mails!

For speed, safety, flexibility—and greater all-round economy—you will find that no other form of transportation can match modern truck transport.

Trucks pick up the load wherever it's made or grown—and speed it direct to the manufacturer, wholesaler or retailer.

Extra crating is unnecessary, because your goods roll on rubber—with no "humping", no "switching", less handling. Goods arrive in better condition—with less breakage, less loss!

Faster, more frequent deliveries mean lower inventory, less storage space, greater turnover on your investment—which all add up to higher profits.

That's why more and more people in every field are finding that it pays to specify "Ship by Truck"—pays in precious time, and in actual cash.

DROWNING VICTIMS
LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(INS)—Half of each year's drowning victims live in rural areas, according to Purdue university safety specialists.

About 1812 war vessels usually were black hulled, with below deck interiors painted a dull red everywhere to make less conspicuous blood spilled in an engagement.

CHINESE GANGSTERS
SHANGHAI, China.—(INS)—The Dillingers and "Baby Face" Nelsons were petty pickers compared to two Chinese kidnaping gangs just apprehended. They demanded and got a ransom of $395,000 for the release of a Shanghai flour magnate.
